

WANT to get thin? Use Dr. Dopem's pills. No diet; no exercise; no care; just buy the pills. Want to get rich? Buy Prof. Fakem's book. No education; no brains; no work required; just buy the book, read it carefully five minutes a day and your salary will go up. Want to be beautiful? Buy Madame Smearem's cream. No natural beauty; no care of the health, no cultivation of the mind; no expression of the spirit; just buy the cream and smear it on. Want to be famous, powerful and popular? Take Prof. Buttem's course. No brains; no diligence; no character; no hard labor; just pay the tuition and the professor will pour the necessary equipment into you.

So read the advertisements. And the advertisers know human nature. They know "what the people want." What the people want is to buy things for money. To buy them with time, work, self-sacrifice, brains and courage is not so popular. And what they want with the things they want to buy for little money is to use them to get more money, still without paying anything but money for it, and to use that to get still more money, to buy still more things with.

IT CAN'T be done. Money, if you have it, will buy certain things. More things and more important, can be got only by personal effort. And money will buy that, too. Money will buy steamboat tickets. It will not buy eyes to see or perceptions to enjoy the places, peoples and things that the steamboat will take you to.

Money will buy books and pictures. It will not buy the capacity to understand and enjoy them. Money will buy house, furniture and food. It will not buy the friends who adorn and justify such surroundings.

It will buy good medical advice. It will not buy the character and self-control to follow it. And most even of these things that money will buy can also be had without it. There are books free in public libraries. Good hygienic advice is now accessible to everybody. You can go to Europe cheap, if you will travel third class, and you can get a college education by working for it. Everything in life is available to intelligence, effort and character.

Most things are not available without these, no matter how much money you have.

IT IS scarcely conceivable that the brewers and the Anti-Saloon League will be able to agree on any policy, even in consideration of the brewers getting aggressively on the side of law enforcement.

But at least on one thing everybody ought to agree. That is to cut out the "and wine" from all this "beer and wine" talk. There is no "and wine" involved.

The brewers do not make wine. There were, if memory serves, eighty-four "beer and wine" bills introduced in the last congress. And there was not a word about wine in any of them.

Good attorneys had doubtless advised their introducers that their inclusion of wine would make the bills indisputably unconstitutional and would lose whatever chance there was of the beer bills surviving the supreme court.

There is no such thing as "light wines" so little as twice as strong as rather heavy beer or five times as strong as the heaviest beer that could possibly pass the supreme court if it passed congress.

Nobody is trying to pass an "and wine" law, and it would be invalid if it were passed. Why, for truth's sake, cut out the "and wine" "beer and wine" means "beer."

"THIS is a billion dollar country," said Speaker "Tom" Reed, after the first billion budget for the biennium. We have long passed the day of such small things.

Mere billions no longer stagger us. But it is at least interesting to learn that there will be a billion dollar increase in building this year over even the five billion dollar budget of last year.

This is a six billion dollar country, in its year's increase in housing and business structures. That is all money saved, and added to the permanent capital of the people.

When we add as much more spent on automobiles, worn out in carrying us about, for business and pleasure, we begin to realize that the greatest plutocrat the world ever knew is the American democracy.

QUAKE ROCKS SAN FRANCISCO BAY DISTRICT

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—The bay district was shaken by a light earthquake shock at 7:23 a. m., today. Residents of Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco felt the tremor, which was slight. No damage was reported.

TREMORS LAST FOR MINUTE AND HALF

BERKELEY, Sept. 30.—An earthquake of one and a half minutes' duration, originating within two miles of here, was registered on the University of California seismograph today, starting at 7:22:59 a. m.

The tremor started with one sharp jolt and continued with a series of minor shocks.

Compared in intensity with the Santa Barbara earthquake, which registered nine on the scale, today's quake registered three.

SHENANDOAH TRIP HELD TO BE CRIMINAL

Mitchell Asserts Law Was Violated in Orders for Last Flight of Dirigible

ENDS HIS TESTIMONY

Witness Hurls Bombshell At Navy, Then Leaves Stand at Investigation

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Dispatch of the dirigible Shenandoah on a voyage into the interior was a "criminal violation of federal law," Col. William Mitchell, storm center of the air service controversy, told the president's aircraft board today.

When he issued the order for the trip which resulted in collapse of the airship in an Ohio storm and death of 14 men should be held legally responsible, he declared.

With this bombshell, Mitchell concluded his testimony before the board, which then proceeded to hear testimony from other flyers.

Cites Law in Case

Mitchell cited a law which provides that only experienced flying officers should have command of the Shenandoah, but when asked later for an expansion of this theory, he said he had not intended to criticize the personnel in charge of the ship.

He said the Shenandoah carried no parachutes.

"I believe the Shenandoah was on a propaganda mission," Mitchell said in reply to questions of Representative Vinson, Georgia, Democrat.

"I believe it was criminal to send the ship out without parachutes on a long voyage like that," he said.

There was like sending a ship out to sea without lifeboats or rafts.

"The law expressly provides that air operators over land should be controlled by the army air service. It is not the legal province of the navy to send ships overland except on naval missions."

"But you also say the ship did not have qualified pilots," Vinson interposed.

"Officers bungling amateurs," Mitchell said, explaining that he was not referring to the men on the airship, who were "fine officers, so far as I know."

"I believe that the order for the westward flight was issued by a non-flying officer," he said. "I do not believe that the upper officers in the navy complied with the law."

Chairman Dwight Morrow, of the board, announced that it would take no action on Mitchell's charges that the navy officials who ordered the Shenandoah westward are liable to prosecution.

"We are not going into that matter," Morrow said. "An official investigation now is being conducted by the naval board of inquiry at Lakehurst and that, of course, is a matter for them to determine."

May Testify at Lakehurst

It is expected that in view of Mitchell's statements, he might be asked to appear before the naval court of inquiry.

Mitchell referred to government attorneys and an opinion of the attorney general, that only flying officers should be in control of experimental voyages.

"That does not mean you should pick an admiral up off the deck of a ship and let him run our dirigibles," he continued.

"Men who had actual experience in flying, men who knew the flying business as a profession, men who have studied flying from the ground."

Plot to Kill British King Denied

LONDON, Sept. 30.—Concluding their holiday at Balmoral, King George and Queen Mary returned to Buckingham palace today.

A published report that an attempt to assassinate the British ruler had been revealed to Scotland Yard was characterized today by officials of that organization as a "flat canard."

The home office also told the United Press that the report was "absolutely without foundation."

PUT BLAME ON LANSLOWNE AT DIRIGIBLE QUIZ

(By United Press)

LAKEHURST, N. J., Sept. 30.—The inquiry into the wreck of the dirigible Shenandoah came to another dramatic climax today with the testimony of Capt. Anton Heinen, German dirigible expert.

Heinen declared he placed responsibility for the wreck "on the man in charge of the ship."

"Do you mean Commander Lansdowne?" he was asked.

"I do," he answered.

Then a moment later he was pressed to tell for a second time where he secured information as to alterations in the safety valve system of the Shenandoah. He refused to answer, but looking over the gathering said:

"I will permit the man who gave me my information to rise."

There was a moment of silence. Then Lieutenant Commander Rosendahl, ranking survivor of the wreck, his face flushed, rose and stood without saying a word.

Then the hearing went on without comment.

"I am proud to say that had I been in charge of the ship, the disaster could have been avoided," Heinen told the court.

"In what way was the ship not properly handled?" asked Admiral Jones.

"In my opinion," Heinen declared, "the ship ran deliberately into the center of the storm. For a half hour danger signals had been shrieked out loud. Even so, I should have been easy to escape. I stand ready to prove this on the evidence already produced."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Secretary of the Navy Wilbur today refused officially to abandon hope of rescuing the crew of the submarine S-51.

Replying to a telegram received from Adm. H. M. Christy, commander of the patrol force in charge of rescue operations, in which Christy recommended that the navy department officially abandon hope and switch from rescue to salvage operations, Wilbur radioed him instructions to "carry on."

A court of inquiry to investigate the case and fix the responsibility for the sinking of the S-51 was appointed by Wilbur today with orders to convene at the Boston navy yard on October 15, or as soon thereafter as possible.

The court will be headed by Capt. J. P. Jackson, commandant of the Boston navy yard, with Lt. Com. Charles A. Lockwood as judge advocate. Other members are Capt. Walter M. Hurt and David A. Weaver.

(By United Press)

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 30.—With divers convinced that the sunken submarine S-51 contains only corpses and with derricks and divers unable to operate because of rough weather, it was believed here this afternoon that the present "rescue" operations will soon have to be abandoned and salvage operations undertaken.

A recommendation to the navy department from Admiral Christy, in charge at the scene of the S-51 disaster, will probably be forthcoming soon.

Rescue operations in connection with the sunken submarine have been suspended for the day.

Heavy weather developed in the early forenoon, compelling abandonment of plans to attempt a hoist with the cranes Monarch and Century and to make diving explorations inside the hull.

The two bulky, top-heavy derricks, which have been driven by rough weather to seek shelter, were forced again to put back into a safe berth at Newport.

Admiral Christy had hoped to have them operating at the scene of the wreck by dawn today. Accordingly he ordered them to proceed from Newport to the wreck area.

Operations Not Possible

The official message from Admiral Christy said:

"Present weather conditions make operations not possible."

Capt. Ernest J. King, chief of the submarine station, declared he still had not abandoned all hope, but added:

"Every day's delay decreases the small chance of anybody being found alive aboard ship."

At Breton reef lightship, however, the divers found freshened and the kicking up of the two cranes were compelled to lumber back into the harbor.

Today was virtually the last day of hope of getting any living men out. And naval men here admit privately that this hope is as good as nil. The "zero hour" is past.

Divers Cannot Work

The breeze was so stiff and the sea so rough this morning that it was not even possible to allow divers to explore the hull, for the undercurrent was too heavy. If diving were to continue, it would have meant that the divers' lives would be jeopardized.

With this new strain of ill luck, the hopes for finding any men alive vanished almost completely. The navy men had said during the forenoon that they had "expectations, but no hope" in connection with finding any men alive.

But the divers themselves, as a result of their six descents yesterday, were thoroughly convinced that no living man is locked in the S-51.

The divers had not gone down to all this morning, according to indications, for the rough weather was swaying the diving boat Chittenden, making it apparently impossible even to put a man overboard safely.

Captain King admitted that it might even be necessary to take away the Chittenden from the scene temporarily.

Base officials are convinced that, when the shell is eventually opened, it will be found that there are not more than 20 to 25 corpses inside. The remainder of the men, it is believed, were swept out to sea and drowned.

Rex Goodcell to Run for Governor

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue here, will be a candidate for governor of California, according to close friends and business associates. The collector refused to affirm or deny the contemplated candidacy today. It was known, however, that organization work is already under way to promote Goodcell's candidacy.

BONES FOUND ON DESERT BELIEVED THOSE OF SAN DIEGO MAN LONG MISSING

(By United Press)

EL CENTRO, Calif., Sept. 30.—The headless skeleton found on the desert 50 miles west of here was that of C. G. Cavoli, San Diego, authorities believed today.

Cavoli disappeared in November, 1922, after buying a revolver in a San Diego shop. A gun found near the skeleton was said to be the weapon purchased by Cavoli.

Authorities believe he went to the lonely desert spot after buying the gun and committed suicide. A son was enroute here today from San Diego to identify clothing and other articles found near the bones.

First theory of the find was that the skeleton might have been that of George E. Schick, San Diego capitalist, murdered more than two years ago.

3 KILLED, 6 HURT IN AUTO CRASHES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—Three persons were killed and six seriously injured in automobile accidents in Los Angeles and vicinity during the last 24 hours.

John M. Hoag, 33, Hollywood, and an unidentified young woman, were found dead under the wreckage of a roadster near Culver City today. It is believed they were returning to Hollywood from a Culver City roadhouse when the accident occurred.

Delbert Brown, 19, was killed at Reseda Valley, when he ran in front of an automobile driven by Frank Wadley, of Owensmouth.

Six others, including Kitty Doner, musical comedy actress, were in local hospitals recovering from injuries received in automobile crashes. Miss Doner's machine crashed into one driven by M. C. Rose, at a boulevard intersection in Hollywood.

Chickens, geese, turkeys and rabbits must be kept 35 feet from a dwelling under the "barnyard" ordinance.

SLIGHT DECLINE MARKS WALNUT CROP PRICE AS FIXED BY ASSOCIATION

Prices for the 1925 walnut crop, set today in Los Angeles by the California Walnut Growers' association, dropped one cent on each grade of soft shells and three cents a pound on medium banded. Fancy banded were established at the same price as last year, 29 cents a pound.

Prices on the others will be: No. 1 softshell, 24 cents; baby softshell, 15 cents; medium banded, 22 cents.

Samuel Suddaby and Harry W. Lewis, members of the board of directors of the association from the Santa Ana Walnut association, were present when the prices were set.

Growers of the Santa Ana association were notified today not to deliver any more nuts at the packing house until Tuesday morning of next week.

At the same time, Harry Lewis, president of the association, announced that growers of the organization will meet at the packing house Saturday, at 1:30 p. m., to discuss local problems that have developed in connection with this year's crop.

The president urged a full attendance of members so that there may be full discussion and decisions on the problems that will be representative of the attitude of a large percentage of the growers.

RIFFIAN TROOPS SHELL AMERICANS

QUEZZAN, Morocco, Sept. 30.—Riffian troops last night fired upon a group of Americans, including Aviators Rockwell, Cousins and Holden. Mrs. Holden, formerly Edith Gillingham, of Philadelphia, also was in the party.

The Americans were strolling on the outskirts of Quezzan after the dinner hour, when they were ambushed by the Riffians. Three bullets passed over Mrs. Holden's head.

The flyers pulled their revolvers and sent a volley at the attackers. The Riffians fled.

CONGRESSMEN PROMISE AID FOR NEWPORT

representative of the committee were made by Chairman Dempsey, and one of his strongest statements was the declaration that if the harbor men could come to the committee at any time in the future with assurances that commerce could be developed, a request for government aid would be given favorable consideration.

His statement was greeted with continued applause, for it was the first time that ever such a statement had been made to representatives of the local project. In the past, definite declarations had been made that government aid could not be expected until commerce was developed.

The chairman's qualification was that "assurance be given" and followed a suggestion that harbor supporters confer with officials of smaller industries at Los Angeles harbor and ascertain whether they would transfer their operations to that port to Orange county harbor in case the latter was developed. Expressing the belief that development of a large commerce from the Los Angeles port that now is an encumbrance on that harbor was possible, Congressman Dempsey said if representatives of Orange county harbor could come to the committee with assurance that industries would move to the county harbor, it was possible that the committee would very readily accede to a request for assistance.

From Business Standpoint

"I haven't seen anywhere a port I like as well as I do Newport," the committee chairman said in opening his address. "I want to talk to you from the standpoint of business and also tell you what you must do."

"You have a remarkable situation at your harbor entrance, in that you can go out 1000 feet further from your present jetty and strike deep water. That situation does not obtain at any other port project that I know of. You have a big body of land available for wharves and industries—and it is near the ocean, a very important point. As to your harbor no one can say anything too highly in commendation of the project. You are going to provide a safe entrance by building an east jetty and by repairing and extending the present jetty, and these should prove ample protection against drifting sand and closing the mouth. You are going to provide a belt railroad—all these you contemplate under the plans directed by Gen. Lansing H. Beach, and the plans certainly provide every facility needed by a first class harbor."

"Your problem first is to develop commerce and to study how you are going to accomplish this. Fortunately you have good business men backing you in your plans. I have learned a great deal this afternoon and evening about your section and your possibilities. I have been convinced of the sincerity of this community in its plans for the harbor."

Have Big Advantage

"You have a big advantage in ownership of an extensive harbor frontage by the county. You are only nine miles from a great municipality—Santa Ana—and that is no great distance, when you recall that Los Angeles was 20 miles to San Pedro and has established the wonder harbor of the world. That harbor, within a year, jumped from a tonnage of 2,000,000 tons a month to that many tons a day. Santa Ana should support this harbor project 100 per cent."

"There are some business enterprises that must be centered at a point where land is not too high. I am told that your harbor lands here are worth about $5000 an acre. You can bring industries here and locate them on county lands, and if you should give them the land rent free you would gain immeasurably, for you would be developing improvements here that would fully pay for the lands by increased taxable values."

Cheap Lands Inducement

"You should go from here, where land is worth $5000 an acre, to Los Angeles harbor, where property is worth $25,000 an acre, and find enterprises whose managements are looking for location on a harbor where land values are not so high. You can bring the where from the highly congested district of the Los Angeles port. Your cheap lands will be an inducement, but you can afford to give them use of the land free, or donate it to concerns that are solvent and which will agree to stay for a definite period. You can tie these concerns up in an agreement to come when the facilities are provided.

"This is a solution to your problem of commerce and when you can come to this committee with assurance of traffic for your project, we undoubtedly will help you. Evidence of faith in a project by investment of local capital is a very persuasive argument before the committee, and certainly this community has been free in the expenditure of its own money in the development of the harbor. The people have backed their faith by their own money."

The honorable Mr. Dempsey here stated that there were any number of harbor projects in his own district where local interests had invested their wealth, but that he never had asked to be the recipient of aid from the government because these ports had no trade and never would have.

Asks Merchant Marine Support

The speaker closed his address with a strong appeal for support of the merchant marine. Declaring that "this is the beginning of the end of our troubles," Congressman Lineberger said that "this project is so meritorious, and the committee is so sympathetic, that when you come to Washington to ask for assistance the committee will give sympathetic hearing."

Continuing, the speaker said: "This is to be the harbor for three counties, Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino, with resources and wealth unequalled by any other similar area in the United States. I will give my sincere and earnest support to the project. The time has come when the government should come in and help you, and I believe it will."

Congressman Strong didn't hide anything when he was called upon to speak. He spoke right out in meeting.

"No Use Pussyfooting"

"When the people in a community are willing to back a project and support their judgment with their own money, I don't know why any congressman, who does not know anything about the project, should vote 'no' on a request for assistance," the congressman said. Continuing, he said: "When Phil Swing comes before the committee with a request for help, I will vote with him. There is no use of pussyfooting about what I will do. Keep Phil Swing and Walter Lineberger in congress and we will give them whatever they want."

McDuffie was the "funny man" of the delegation and in the course of his remarks got off some good humor on California, at the same time complimenting Californians on their vision and their loyalty to their state.

"I feel there is a need for more harbors on the Pacific coast and you are not sitting around waiting for something to fall in your lap," he said. "There is very little reason for congressmen to say 'no' when you come to us with facts such as you have to present with reference to this project. I am almost a 'fixed juror' and am ready to vote now. The future holds much in store for this section, and no one can exaggerate the possibilities of this state when one considers the climate, the productivity of soil and the hydro-electric development that is taking place."

Not Influenced by Politics

Following a declaration that the committee is not influenced by politics, and assertion that politics can do nothing but harm to any project, Chairman Dempsey urged that voters in the two congressional districts send Swing and Lineberger back to congress to "help you and to help us."

McDuffie followed this with a statement that "these gentlemen are on the job all the time, and are useful, active men." He added that they are held in the highest esteem by members of congress.

Preceding the other congressmen in the program of talks, Swing recounted some of the history of the local harbor, referring to shipping in the bay and at the ocean wharf at Newport Beach prior to killing of shipping there by railroad interests in another harbor. Stressing the turning of the Santa Ana river from the harbor to the ocean, he pointed to the expenditure by the city of Newport Beach, the county of Orange and private interests around the bay, of approximately $1,000,000 in harbor work.

Possible Trade Development

Directing attention to possible trade developments in the Orient, South America and Mexico as pointing the way for demand for more harbors on the Pacific coast, Swing turned to presentation to the committee of plans of local harbor advocates.

"A committee representing this harbor will say to you that we have put up so much money and made certain developments in accordance with plans of army engineers," said the representative of this congressional district. "We will say to you that the one jetty on the west side has not accomplished what it was thought by army engineers its construction would accomplish. We are going to ask the government to match dollars in expenditures necessary to make the entrance permanent and safe. And in this they will have the support of Riverside and San Bernardino counties."

Harbort Toastmaster

C. G. Houston, president of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce, opened the meeting and introduced Assemblyman S. C. Hartman as toastmaster.

Speakers other than the congressmen were T. B. Talbert, chairman of the board of supervisors; S. C. Evans, mayor of Riverside, who declared Riverside's interest in the harbor and warned county residents that if the harbor was not completed, Riverside would dredge the Santa Ana river and make a harbor at Riverside; and H. A. Lake, chairman of the harbor commission.

Guests from outside points included Dr. F. C. Renfrew, of the Long Beach harbor board; James Collins, chairman of the harbor committee of the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce; J. David Larsen, executive vice president of the Long Beach chamber; Maj. H. A. Finch, Los Angeles, U. S. district engineer; C. R. Smurr, Los Angeles, industrial agent for the Southern Pacific; J. J. Wilk, Los Angeles; H. E. Meyers, Long Beach, and W. S. Meyers, San Francisco, of the U. S. light-house service.

County men present were: Jas. Irvine Jr., R. J. McFadden, E. T. McFadden, F. L. Ainsworth, T. B. Talbert, Col. S. H. Finley, George Jeffrey, Dr. F. W. Shabugh, Floyd McCracken, C. S. Browne, Walter E. Eastlack, Walter C. Burris, A. B. Roussele, William C. Warmington, Dr. F. A. Remington, T. E. Stephenson, S. C. Hartman, J. A. Beck, Dr. J. D. Thomas, L. S. ground up should be placed in control."

Mitchell said he believed the Shenandoah ought never to have been sent westward at all, but that if it had to be sent it should have been manned by skilled air men.

The ship could have conducted all its experimental work around Lakehurst without going over the mountains, he said.

Not Part of Land Fleet

"The Shenandoah was certainly not a part of the land fleet. The sending of the ship across the mountains at that time of the year shows what will result when aviation is in the hands of non-flying officers."

"The system that obtains today was never framed to handle the air business. It must be changed. 'We air people will not permit these conditions to continue. And all airmen believe as I do."

Opening the second day of his testimony, the officer, demoted assistant chief of the army air service, who caused the present inquiry by his charges, immediately began comment upon the recent series of misfortunes in the navy.

Besides the Shenandoah, Mitchell mentioned the unsuccessful Hawaiian flight and the proposal last year to have the Shenandoah sent to the north pole.

"It seems funny to me that destroyers which were strung across the Pacific were unable to find the PN-1 for days after she alighted in the water," he said. "As far as the proposal to have a dirigible go to the north pole is concerned, that shows what men who are not flyers will do when they are in control of the air service."

Then Mitchell launched into a survey of records showing how air development had been ignored. He referred to the report of the Lastier board, recommending a general upbuilding of the air service. The report was made to the war department in April, 1923.

"Nothing has been done to carry out the purport of the report," he said. "Things go along that way, the ball is tossed around, and we get nowhere."

Mitchell read testimony of Secretary of War Weeks before a congressional committee, complaining that the navy was getting more funds for aviation than the army. "The bombing of the battleship Washington last year by the navy was done in such a way as to belittle the offensive power of the airplane. The vessel was never bombed."

"A number of 1000-pound charges were placed in the water and when set off they did great damage to the hull and keeled her over. Two torpedo charges were set off and one tore a hole in her side."

"There was no air attack against the vessel."

"The impression was given that the ship was impervious from the attack of the airplanes."

"The army and navy have quashed the indictment of army and navy air defense on the coast."

Women's Lives are relieved of a great hygienic handicap

in this way

THERE is now a new way in woman's hygiene. A way scientific and exquisite that ends the uncertainty of old-time "sanitary pads." You wear sheer frocks and gowns without a second thought, any time, anywhere. You meet every day, every business or social demand unhandicapped.

It is called "KOTEX." Eight in every 10 better-class women have adopted it.

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads, it banishes danger of mishaps.

Deodorizes, too. And thus ends ALL fear of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You obtain it simply by saying "KOTEX." Women thus ask for it without hesitancy. Costs only a few cents at drug or department stores. Proves old ways a folly.

SCHOOL NEWS

Julia Lathrop

Work at the Julia Lathrop junior high has begun in earnest. Mrs. Curtis and Mrs. Laffea of the English department report definite work in their literature classes. Miss Bruner's seventh grade classes are studying Hawthorne's "The Great Stone Face." Interest in the story has been furthered considerably by an oil painting of a profile rock similar to the Face of Stone in Hawthorne's story.

Miss Chalmers and Mr. Bryan of the physical education department have enthusiastic and able material for their teams this year. Miss Chalmers entertains high hopes of a successful girls' basketball season. Mr. Bryan and his squad are working hard to produce a champion football team for Julia Lathrop. The first football game of the season was held Friday of last week at Tustin. Games on the home field will be on Tuesday and Friday of this week. Tuesday, Lathrop plays Orange and Friday the Lathrop team meets Tustin for a return game.

Clubs and class meetings are taking precedence over the registration work of last week. The high nine citizenship classes are taking up the study of parliamentary practice in preparation for their work as officers in the student organizations.

The forum of the high nine citizenship class held a meeting Tuesday September 22. The day was primarily for the purpose of discussing student body affairs. Special attention was given to the duties of the Safety club. The organization has been found invaluable in the maintenance of order and good conduct throughout the building. Miss Hazel Thrasher, talked to the club on the subject of good citizenship. The slogan of "Lathrop First" in all school activities was unanimously adopted by the club members.

The first student body assembly was held last Wednesday. Miss Hazel Thrasher was in charge of the assembly. She was fortunate in securing Charles Tidball, the American Y.M.C.A. auditor in Europe as speaker. Mr. Tidball gave a most interesting talk on the activities of the organization in Europe and foreign countries.

Following Mr. Tidball's talk Don Smith, yell leader, led the school in some yells and Miss Cornell of the music department introduced a new song. The meeting was then turned over to the new student body officers who were introduced by Miss Thrasher. These officers were: Virginia Pope, president; Olive Goodman, secretary-treasurer; and Charlie Davis, sergeant-at-arms. The president called the meeting to order and a short business meeting followed. The student body officers for this year are very capable ones. They are confident of receiving co-operation from the student body and hope to maintain the best student organization in the county.

Frances E. Willard

The faculty of the Santa Ana Conservatory of Music entertained the pupils of the Frances Willard school with a most delightful program Thursday morning during the regular assembly period.

This entertainment was undoubtedly one of the best and highest type we have ever had in the Frances Willard school and we count it a very rare privilege to have had this unusual opportunity of hearing such a splendid program from the noted musicians of this city.

We were especially proud and glad to hear Miss Georgie Bell Walton, noted violinist, whom we claim as a product of our own school. D. C. Cianfoni, founder and head of the Conservatory, said that Miss Georgie Bell, a student in the conservatory is not only learning to be a player and musician but a teacher. At present she is teaching a class of beginners on the violin.

The program consisted of the following numbers: Trombone solo, Mr. Cianfoni, accompanied by Miss Ruth Armstrong; negro spiritual, "Little David Play on Your Harp," Holly Lash Visel, accompanied by Miss Armstrong; violin duet, Elwood Bear and Georgie Bell Walton; trombone solo, Mr. Cianfoni; Spanish Dance Song, Mr. Bear and Miss Walton, accompanied by Miss Armstrong.

Plans for 1925-26
As we start the third year of the Frances E. Willard Junior High School, we can look ahead and see a bigger and better school life.

Combining the new teachers with those remaining from last year, we have a very strong faculty, carefully trained and with high ideals for the physical, mental and moral welfare of each boy and girl. With such a faculty there should be no question as to the success of the class room instruction if the pupils of the school co-operate through giving close attention to assignments and diligent effort in preparation.

Student Activities
But the class room work is not the only means of preparation offered in our school. We hold that such student activities as assemblies, clubs, and athletics are of great value in developing well rounded lives.

Clubs

As soon as possible, we wish to start our club activities. Last semester the clubs were, as a rule, very successful. However, we can profit by the failures of last year and make the clubs this year of greater worth. For one thing, we will try to keep the membership in each club down to those who are really interested in the activities of the club. The clubs will give one a chance to develop his hobby—his favorite pastime.

In the near future we are ready to suggest the clubs which you wish to organize. As far as possible the clubs organized will be of your choice, although we sometimes find it difficult to find suitable sponsors. A suggested list might include such clubs as: art, music appreciation, Dramatics, athletics, tennis, handball, science, camp fire girls, girl scouts, boy scouts, Y-club, girl reserves, commerce, club speaking, camera, story telling, Spanish, flower gardening, stamp collectors, travel, model yacht, candy and pastry, millinery, art needle work, hiking, etc. Be ready to suggest others. As far as possible the clubs which are desired will be organized.

Health and Recreation
We feel that the health of boys and girls in the junior high school is fundamental. The late President Harding said: "If I were to offer a prayer, it would be first for the spiritual excellence of our nation and next for its well-being in health." We must keep physically fit in order to do our share of the world's work.

Under the direction of Mr. Archer, Miss Franzen, and the new school nurse, Miss Van Soye, we will have a very intensive and extensive health and recreation program. Your cheerful co-operation in their plans is urgently requested, as well as the co-operation of your parents. Follow the ten essential health rules as outlined to you last year. Later a check will be made on these.

Our athletic and recreation program for the boys has been greatly enlarged by the addition of Messrs. Raitt, Bracewell and Read to assist L. W. Archer. For the present Raitt will work with Archer in coaching football, later introducing the new junior high school game of speed ball, which may replace football. Bracewell will coach the teams entering the county indoor baseball league; Read will develop a series of inter-class sports, starting with indoor baseball.

As soon as possible the program for the girls will also be enlarged and enriched.

Willard Deserted by Ambitious Students

Florence Brownridge, Roberta Goodrich and Rose Marie Smith spent an enjoyable vacation over their books. Therefore, this fall Willard is bereft of three of its most enthusiastic members. When the fall term began they bade us adieu and took their places among the ranks at senior high school.

—KATHERINE BARR.
The present 53 class section has several changes to report. Five of last year's members are no longer with us. We are glad to welcome the following new members to our class: Lee McMillan, Carl Lykke, Stanley Williams, Andrew Regia, and Albert Madden.

The School Library

There are 225 new books in the Frances Willard school library. Fifty old books that were torn and ragged have been newly bound so all of the books are in good condition at the present time. Among the new books there are some on vocation, general science, art and fiction.

All of the pupils will be interested in knowing about some of the new books which we have been fortunate in securing for our own. The following authors are represented in our new selection: Hawkes, Churchill, Schultz, Dyer, Lamprey, Knipe, Altschuler, Kipling, Brooks, Challin, Dana, Tarkington, Walpole and Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

There are several books of Spanish and French plays which will undoubtedly prove of interest to the foreign language department.

One of the prize books is "The Scarlet Cockerel" by Sublette, in honor of Charles Boardman Howe. Mr. Howe entered a book in a contest and won the prize but died before it was awarded to him, so it was given to his widow. Then this book "The Scarlet Cockerel" was dedicated to his memory.

The magazines are in folders on the rack. The new books were on

SUFFERED LONG

Kentucky Lady Says Her "Terrible Dizzy Spells" Were Relieved by Taking Cardui.

Bevier, Ky.—"I suffered for a long time with general weakness," says Mrs. Ellis Ford, of this town.

"I would have terrible dizzy spells when my head would swim until I could not see. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days. . . .

"My aunt, who lived near me, advised me to try Cardui.

"After I had taken two bottles I could see that I was improving noticeably.

"The dizziness began to disappear and I kept up the medicine for a year, taking it regularly, and I found relief.

"Since then I have taken Cardui as a preventive, and I have found it very beneficial. . . and have Cardui is perfectly harmless, being entirely an extract of mild-acting medicinal herbs, and contains no dangerous drugs or harmful ingredients.

"The manufacture of Cardui was begun nearly fifty years ago, and in its long period of usefulness many thousands of women have written to tell of the benefits they obtained from its use in the home treatment of common womanly complaints.

only about 130 pounds, it will make up its lack of weight in speed. Of last year's monogram men we will have only three left. They are Williams, center; Chase, end; and Hamilton, guard, but the new material will be good. Of the new material we have Warren Cooke, half back who comes from the Catholic school and has had some good football experience. We also have Joe Stroup from Hollywood who is an experienced quarter. Other new material on the team that seems promising includes George Stratton, Jerome Pribylo, Ray Perkins, Lawrence Ross and others.

First Football Practice Good
L. W. Archer called the first football meeting during the first week of school and the big turnout showed that Frances Willard still has a lot of school spirit. The night following the meeting they had their first practice. This was not a regular practice but just a little exercise to limber the fellows up. But if there is as much snap in the rest of the practices as in this first one, there is no doubt that Frances Willard football team will be something worth while this season.

It may be wise to say something on the start about supporting the team. There is no question about the splendid support the team always received on their home grounds, but when the team goes out of town to play they usually receive very little support. Is this fair? If your team puts forth all the fight they have in every game, why shouldn't the student body back them up wherever they are playing? Let's start out with the idea that we shall give the team all the support they need.

—STANLEY WILLIAMS.

3a's Elect Officers
The 3a class held their election of officers during the home room period last Friday. Officers were elected as follows: President, Burdette Hienly; Vice-president, Mary Maeter; secretary, Helen Slabough; treasurer, Walter Wilson; girls' reporter, Maxine Smith; boys' reporter, Elwood Foderick; boys' athletic manager, Bruce Tarver; girls' athletic manager, Virginia Golden.

Roosevelt

Members of the high sixth grade of the Roosevelt school held their first regular meeting as an organized society, last Thursday afternoon. The previous week they had organized this club, "Around the Flag" by name, at the suggestion and with the help of Miss Beth Walker, the new president, Allen Howell, presided, with Jess Maret acting as secretary. The officers of this club are to hold office for one month only. During the meeting, it was suggested that the program committee composed of Lucille Howell, Arthur Hottle and Bessie Haddock, chairman, plan the program for the next meeting. This suggestion met with favor so the club is looking forward with pleasure to the unexpected events on the coming program. Alice Boyd was elected treasurer at the meeting. Miss Campbell was asked to be the club sponsor and acted in this capacity on Thursday.

Another club has sprung up in this school, namely, the "Globetrotters," the low sixth grade club. Gale Smith is acting as president in this organization. These folks also held a meeting on Thursday, assisted by Miss Pearl Camblin, their advisor. The name which these children chose for their society, is perhaps significant of the type of work they will take up in their later meetings.

And still another club has been discovered, but this time the lower grade children are responsible. Miss Grant has made this possible and we believe that these young third graders carry on their proceedings in a very grownup manner. Matthew Brown is the president and has taken a lively interest in this new work. He has provided each of his fellow-members with a splendid reading list as well as magazine reading for the group when such reading shall be appropriate.

WHY?

—Because it is Passe, Out of Date!

GENTLEMEN, the Overcoat is dead! Long live the Topcoat! Its demise has been a gentle passing away—perhaps you have witnessed its decline hardly realizing what was happening. The Topcoat has become the loose, comfortable, stylish coat that harmonizes so perfectly with the present trend that there isn't a chance of the overcoat style coming back. This Fall the Topcoat is a bit longer, the lapel and the sweep of the neckline follow that of your new suit coat, detail for detail. It's the style, and you'll be glad that it is. You'll never be satisfied with anything else this winter. So, you might as well throw away your overcoat, and join the procession!

Stag Dinner Planned
As Very Successful
Birthday Surprise

Waiting patiently last night at his office for a brother realtor from Long Beach to fulfill an apparently authentic engagement for 6 o'clock, W. L. Salisbury was called to the telephone by Mrs. Salisbury who informed him that the Beach city man was waiting his arrival at his North Broadway home and suggested that he come up at once.

Hastening home to discuss business matters, the popular realtor was overwhelmed when he found his partner, Charles Aubrey, and all of the men of his office together with a neighbor or two, ready to call birthday greetings as soon as he opened the door. For Mrs.
Salisbury, aided in all her plans by Mr. Aubrey, had arranged a stag dinner as a birthday celebration honoring her husband.

After the surprise had somewhat subsided, the men were directed to the dining-room where with Mr.
Salisbury in his seat at the head of the table, all joined with gusto in enjoying the birthday feast which offered roast turkey, succulent and delicious, and all the delicious dishes which should accompany the "National bird."

The table was bright with orange dahlias in harmony with the vivid color scheme employed by the hostess, and orange tapers burned in attractive candlesticks. The din-der was served by Mrs. Salisbury and the two daughters of the home, the Misses Hazel and Helen Salisbury. Cards and a smoker were enjoyed after dinner and the men took the opportunity to show their goodwill by presenting their host with a handsome monogrammed traveling bag.

Sharing the anniversary and its happy observance with the host were Messrs. Charles Aubrey, Frank E. McCarter, William H.
Hutton, Roy E. Johnson, Harry Ball, H. F. Boles and D. M. Peters.

Nature Music School
To Open Here

Now enrolling pupils for the fall season, the local branch of the Nature Music School of Los Angeles, in charge of Miss Alice Pol-som and Miss Mabel Krause, offers courses in music and musicianship to students of all ages as well as individual private lessons. Both Miss Polsom and Miss Krause are well-known artists of the city. Miss Polsom has had extensive voice training and will conduct classes in solo and chorus work for children in conjunction with their piano studies under Miss Krause.

Maude Meserve Falconer, founder of the Nature Music presentation, gave that name to her course because nature and the natural unfoldment is the foundation of all her work. As easily as a child learns to walk and express himself in his native tongue, he takes his first steps in establishing his own rhythm and creating the melodies of childhood.

All those interested in music are cordially invited to attend the lecture and demonstration by Mrs.
Falconer at the Church of the Messiah, Friday, October 2, at 3:30 o'clock.

Delphian Circle

After a period of inactivity during the summer months, the Delphian society resumed its regular meetings last Friday at Ebbel clubhouse where the president, Mrs. F.
E. Coulton, conducted the interesting session.

The audience was thoroughly charmed by the program which included a talk on art appreciation by F. W. Cuppian, well-known Laguna Beach artist. In an informal and altogether delightful manner,
Mr. Cuppian brought to his hearers a message of beauty. Touching lightly on the attributes of an artist, he gradually led to the inspiration necessary to paint a picture, likewise the need of laymen, to catch and hold the intangible quality which makes a canvas, a success. Through his talk, he intermingled the art and rhythm of painting.

Miss Ploy Donaldson of Santa Ana Junior college faculty, gave a graphic discussion of color, illustrating her theme by chart and positive work. Color to the lay mind, she declared to be an indefinable subject, but to her hearers, it took form under her masterly presentation.

Art was further emphasized in the program by a charming song
—up given by Cecil Fross Williams, her choice being Laurence Hope's
"Kashmir Love Song." "Pale Hands I Loved" by Amy Woodford Finden and "Ta Tan." Her accompaniments were played by Miss Ruth Armstrong in faultless manner.

The society was happy to greet Miss Jennie Lashy after her summer in Europe and she spoke most interestingly on the National Educational Conference in Edinburgh to which she went as a delegate.

Parents, Teachers
Of High School
To Meet Thursday

Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, the press reporter for the High School Parent-Teachers association makes the statement that a very interesting as well as interesting year for that organization is being anticipated.

The first meeting for the year will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the Y. W.
C. A. hut, when all high school as well as junior college mothers are asked to attend, together with all friends of the school.

Mrs. Robertson says that this is a golden opportunity for the mothers and teachers to get together and discuss problems over a fragrant cup of tea and light refreshments.

Mrs. J. M. Burlew is this year's president, and as 500 personal letters have been sent out to mothers, it is hoped that a very large attendance will be the result.

the fall at the home of Mrs. W. L.

promptly at 12 o'clock, and mem-

Many Pom-pom Dahlias
Deck Country Club
For Bridge Party

Following an enjoyable luncheon with an afternoon at cards, Mrs.
Roy Russell was gracious hostess yesterday at Santa Ana Country club to a group of over forty friends who motored down for the event.
They found the guest table arranged in the form of the letter U and decked in pom-pom dahlias in exquisite tints of orchid and gold.
The base of the U was marked by one long narrow basket of the lovely blooms flanked by tall brass candlesticks bearing candles in harmonizing tints. Smaller baskets decked the two ends of the table around which the guests sought their places by cards in the same colorful autumn tints.

After the luncheon interval, Mrs.
Russell led the way to the sunroom adjacent to the dining-room where card tables were in readi-

Fire Dangers Are Told By Chief Of City Department

With dry winds due at any time now, Chief John Luxembourger, of the Santa Ana fire department, today issued a warning to citizens regarding fire hazards, particularly at this time of the year.

"The entire country is dry, very dry, now," he said, "and it takes little to start a fire which may gain enormous proportions."
"Citizens should be careful with fires in their back yards, and should spend a little time just now in clearing away trash and inflamma-bles stored in garages and catt-houses throughout the city."

Santa Ana's fire loss for the year so far has been unusually low and every effort to keep it so should be made, declared Chief Luxembourger, who said that this cannot be done by the fire department alone.

Pleasant Surprise
Honors Birthday

A friendly little happening of the week was the surprise party which neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. E. A.
Buck of South Sycamore street planned for Monday evening in honor of Mrs. Buck's birthday.
Old-fashioned games formed the entertainment and after an evening of merriment and good-will,
an interesting feature was the serving of refreshments brought by the guests and among which was included a beautiful birthday cake which was used to center the table around which the company gathered.

Mrs. Buck was presented with many pretty gifts by her friends together with wishes for many more happy birthdays. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards and daughter Marjorie of Garden Grove, A. Purves of Mor-ganville, Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. W. G.
W. Stoneback, Mr. and Mrs. John Purves, Mrs. F. McKinney and Everett McKinney of this city.

Expression Classes
With School Work

Interesting to many parents having children attending public schools is the announcement that Holly Lash Visel will carry classes in voice and diction, public reading, corrective speech, dramatic interpretation and pantomime this winter. The board of education has co-operated with Mrs. Visel in securing study classes at every elementary school thus giving the students the opportunity of taking instruction during school hours.

Mrs. Visel declares that the American public is accused of being "lip lazy" and pointed out the many advantages of corrective speech not only to girls contemplating the study of oral expression but also to business men.
Mrs. Visel is well known in Orange county not only in her studio work but also as having participated in many community endeavors. She feels that a great deal can be accomplished with the school children and her classes are rapidly growing.

Former Santa Ana Man Selected for Congress Member

Press dispatches today carried the story of the election of Henry L. Bowles, of Springfield, Mass., to congress from President Cool-idge's home district, over Roland
D. Sawyer, of Ware.

The election was a special one to choose a successor to the late George B. Churchill, of Amherst. The vote was Bowles, 12,702; Sawyer, 9067.

Bowles is a former resident of Santa Ana and a warm, personal friend of George L. Wright, of this city. Up to a few years ago Bowles was the owner of a lot at Sixth and Lacy streets, in Santa Ana. He later made a gift of the lot to William Scam-

MILK RATE OF COUNTY HIGH, REPORT SHOWS

Surprise Contest by State Board Reveals Excellent Marks for Dairymen

An official surprise milk scoring contest just completed in Orange county by the bureau of dairy control of the state department of agriculture shows the milk rating of Orange county to be 94.2, Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, announced today.

This score does not mean that the grand average of milk supplied by Orange county dairies is 94.2 per cent pure, but represents the figure arrived at on the basis of the scoring system of the bureau of dairy control of the state department of agriculture.

Is Second Contest This is the second contest held in Orange county during the present year and as quite a period of time has elapsed between the first contest and this one, the present score is indeed a good one. A few of the raw milk producers could improve their quality considerably and we feel that this will be done when they receive their official standing from the department, the health officer declared.

The seasons of the year tend to vary the quality of milk as do a great many factors to a numerous mention. Taken as a whole, it is almost impossible to hold a milk rating at a given point, as it will fluctuate from various causes and a point or so difference in a total score does not indicate that the milk is of a lower quality, as it might be due to one dairyman using a little slipshod methods or having got into difficulty through no lack of effort on his part and which he had trouble correcting.

It is a well-known fact that in cities or cities and counties where a milk inspection service is maintained, the consumption of milk is greatly increased, thereby increasing the dairyman's business.

Milk is the perfect food for infants and adults alike. Some years ago milk was considered by many as a food solely for infants, but at the present time through educational work, the public is becoming better informed and we find milk used by people of all ages and in all occupations, Dr. Presson explained.

With the exception of iron, milk supplies all of the body needs in delicately balanced proportions. Milk also supplies the vitamins so necessary to growth. Modern nutrition researches have shown that plants provide everything that an animal needs for its sustenance. All life and energy come from the sun and it is the green leaf that captures the sun. The green leaf is the trap in which the sunlight is caught and solidified. The plant is the original source of all food and cows give us the best they take from plants in the form of milk.

Cows eating the large amount of green feed that they are able to concentrate the essential vitamins and food substance in small quantities of milk and it is in this form that we are able to procure and assimilate the essential substances without consuming large quantities as is the case with animals.

Basis for Scoring The milk was scored on the following basis:

	Per Cent
Bacteria	35
Flavor and odor	10
Sediment	10
Fat	15
Solids, not fat	15
Temperature (street samples)	5
Acidity (prepared samples)	5
Bottle and cap	5

Dry Winter Looms As Acorns Few, Mariner Declares

As a weather prophet, Capt. Billy Graves, the veteran Long Beach mariner, is willing to compete with Father Ricardo, the Padre of Rains, and with the United States meteorological bureau. Using his own system of observation and prediction, he said that he will rest his reputation for being weather-wise on the prophecy that Southern California will have a dry winter.

There is a relation between the acorn crop and the rainfall, according to Captain Graves, who said that the observations of his family since 1849 prove that a scarcity of acorns in California invariably is followed by a shortage of moisture.

An uncle, who settled in the Santa Clara valley in the early days, originated this method of forecasting the weather, which he has verified, said the Long Beach seaman. He has just returned from a visit to his brother's ranch at Chatsworth. "There are not enough acorns to feed the squirrels," he said. "We will have early rains, but it will be a dry year."

TROPIC FRUITS ARE DISPLAYED AT FAIR HERE

One of the interesting educational displays featured at the recent Orange county fair was the tropical fruit display entered by the agricultural extension service, represented in Orange county by the farm advisor.

"During the entire session of the fair," says Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg, "the display was crowded with visitors who realized the great number of varieties of foreign tropical fruits which are now being grown in Orange county to a greater or less extent."

"Among the thousands of people who visited the booth were people from many foreign countries and island possessions of this country who were elated to see some of their old horticultural friends native to their respective lands. People from Hawaii recognized the papayas, papayas, avocados and other fruits common to that island group."

"Visitors from Central and South America were particularly interested in the feijoas, cherries, guavas and passion fruit. Professional globe trotters were especially interested in some of the rarer fruits which they were privileged to see in tropical Asia and Africa. The mangoes of India, the natal plum of Africa, the citron of commerce from Sicily, jujube from China, the carob from the Mediterranean country, the kei apple from Africa and many more of the uncommon tropical fruits commanded the curious attention of local and foreign visitors."

"Many expressed their pleasure at seeing this collection and hope that it will be repeated at next year's fair. "Plans are already under way for a more extensive display next year. The purpose of such a display is to educate our own people to the horticultural possibilities of Orange county soil and climate."

GOOD SEEN IN FARM TO CITY MOVEMENT

Another pet economic theory, that migration of farmers to cities means disaster, is hurled toward oblivion by W. W. Petrow of the agricultural economics department of the Oklahoma A. and M. college at Stillwater.

"Too many people on farms is just as bad as not enough," says Petrow. "A movement from the farm to the city is simply a means whereby economic laws work themselves out."

When farmers are more efficient, and can produce more per man, then a larger number of people can be supported in other occupations. "However, there are several dangers in such a movement. In the first place, the process is apt to be selective and take better class boys and girls off the farms and leave weaker ones, to the detriment of agriculture and the nation."

"Another danger is that farmers will not be able to leave the business of farming when conditions seem to offer better opportunities in towns. Few farmers have the business training to enter other lines of activity."

Creamery company, Crescent creamery, Long Beach dairy, Raitt's Sanitary Dairy, Orange Creamery company, Fullerton Sanitary dairy, Excelsior creamery. Those scoring between 90 and 95 and regarded as good are: Huntington Beach Dairy company and Anaheim Creamery company. The contest was conducted by C. U. Duckworth, market milk specialist, of the bureau of dairy control, of the state department of agriculture.

WINDBREAKS OF COUNTY AID TO CITRUS MEN

Farm Advisor Points Out Benefits in Last Season As Result of Campaign

By H. E. WAHLBERG
Orange County Farm Advisor As one goes along the highways in the citrus sections of the county, one can notice the results of the educational campaign for better orchard protection by windbreaks, sponsored during the past three years by the agricultural extension service and co-operating with the farm bureau and citrus associations.

The vigorous growth of the new plantings is beginning to show itself prominently on a number of highways, the most popular combination of plantings being the eucalyptus and Monterey cypress. It is difficult to say just how many windbreaks have been planted, but the extension service estimates that if all the new plantings put out during the past two years were placed in a straight line, end for end, they would total 12 to 15 miles in length.

Many Converts Made It is interesting to note the number of converts in the planting of windbreaks. In several places new windbreaks may be seen coming up between the old stumps that mark the location of former plantings. In other places whole rows of orange or lemon trees have been removed in order to make place for windbreak protection.

Where the windbreak was considered a nuisance by many growers a short while ago, today they are being fostered as a necessary adjunct to the protection of the citrus industry in exposed locations. Proper methods of windbreak culture and management have been studied by the growers of Orange county through numerous field meetings and tours conducted by the agricultural extension service. Today the grower realizes that the windbreak is an asset to his orchard rather than a liability, if the windbreak is given reasonable care and attention.

Gives Essential Phases The essential phases of windbreak management include proper irrigation, fertilization and annual root pruning. If reasonable attention is given to the windbreaks as is given the permanent orchard trees, there need be little fear from competition, and the windbreak row will become the most valuable row in the orchard because of its protective influence over a large area in that orchard. Even to the casual observer, the windbreak appears to have won many friends and will, no doubt, become a permanent institution in connection with the agriculture and horticulture of Orange county.

FAST SILAGE CUTTER IS WASTE OF POWER

Slow up your ensilage cutter in filling the silo, and save from 16 to 33 per cent in power.

This advice is based on experiments made at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture at Madison, in which it was shown that ensilage cutters are generally run too fast and are therefore wasting power. "The greater the reduction in speed, the greater the saving in power," says F. W. Duffee, agricultural engineer at the college.

Machines of the 14-inch flywheel cutter type are commonly rated to average 725 revolutions. In cutting the corn into one-half-inch lengths this machine has a maximum capacity of over 35 tons an hour. Many tests on Wisconsin and Ohio farms, Duffee declares, show that two men will throw off on the average of 16 to 18 tons an hour. When this is compared with the good working capacity of 35 tons an hour, the fact that there is much speed and consequently much power wasted becomes evident.

To those who find that a small tractor will not pull the cutter, Duffee recommends placing a larger pulley on the cutter flywheel. A little extra care may have to be used in feeding to avoid slugging.

Experimental work with the length of cut demonstrated that considerably more power is required per ton with the one-quarter-inch cut, but the total power required to operate the cutter is reduced as the capacity is reduced. More clogging of the blower may be expected with the shorter cut, according to Duffee.

The question of filling the silo without having men in the silo to tramp down the corn is receiving much attention, due to the present shortage of labor. In experimental filling at the college, two sections of distributor pipe were attached to the deflector and a man in the top of the silo swung these sections around to distribute the corn evenly.

From results secured Duffee reports that the ensilage was excellent. The settling is, of course, greater but this can be overcome by either filling slowly or refilling.

ORANGE COUNTY IDEAL FOR BULB-GROWING CENTER, SAYS ANAHEIM GARDEN PROPRIETOR

Orange county is the potential bulb growing center of the United States. Climatically, this section is equipped to produce the best quality bulbs at the least cost and $20,000,000 worth of bulbs produced near Santa Ana each year would find a ready market in the east.

These are the declarations of C. R. Hannah, proprietor of the Highway Bulb gardens. Mr. Hannah has recently returned from a tour of the bulb-growing districts of San Francisco and Monterey bay.

"These northern California districts are considered by many to be the best bulb-growing sections of the United States, but I have produced better and more satisfactory bulbs here in Orange county," Hannah declared.

The large proportion of bulbs produced each year, Hannah went on to say, are purchased by eastern florists for forcing them into bloom in greenhouses. A bulb, to be satisfactory for this purpose, must be an early and generous bloomer. Bulbs produced in his garden, Hannah declared, have proved themselves to be the most satisfactory for this purpose of any produced in this section.

"Few people realize the immense potentialities of this district as a bulb-producing center," Hannah claimed.

"There are more bulbs used in the United States than oranges and the demand for American-grown bulbs is increasing every year. A federal quarantine restriction on the importation of foreign-grown gladioli and narcissus bulbs, which is soon to go into effect, will make the development of an American bulb-growing section a necessity, and Orange county is best fitted to become this center."

FEDERAL FARM FACTS

Winter wheat production in the United States next year will be considerably in excess of probable domestic requirements if reported intentions of farmers to increase acreage approximately 4,000,000 acres above last year are carried out and average yields are secured.

In recent years the United States has consumed for feed, seed and in mill grinding, approximately 230,000,000 bushels of soft red winter, 200,000,000 bushels of hard red winter and about 50,000,000 bushels of white wheat, in addition to practically all the hard red spring wheat produced.

An increase in the percentage of black tea imported and a marked decrease in the percentage of green tea imported during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, is reported.

Argentina has again increased her wheat area. The area sown to wheat is now placed at 18,829,000 acres.

A study of the management of successful 160-acre farms in central Indiana, recently made by the United States department of agriculture and Purdue university, shows the best 10 per cent of 400 such farms from 1910 to 1922 made an average yearly income sufficient to cover 5 per cent interest on capital invested.

To assist Secretary William M. Jardine in completion of the work of the agricultural commission, Ralph P. Merritt, president of the Sun-Mald growers, left this week for Washington.

The Sun-Mald growers announced that at a time of Jardine's visit to California, he asked the board of directors that Merritt be loaned to the department of agriculture for two months. Merritt is expected to confer with Jardine on completion of those phases of the work outlined by the agricultural commission concerning farm problems.

FAIR STAND OF W. C. T. U. TOLD BY GROUP HEAD

Reports by committee heads of the Orange County W. C. T. U. meeting in Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon showed that during the year the organization has accomplished many acts of kindness and has many good deeds to its credit.

Mrs. Mae Thomas, of Santa Ana, chairman of the Orange County fair committee, in a short report to the members of the organization, showed a large increase in the interest generally displayed in the W. C. T. U. This year a total of 681 persons registered at the W. C. T. U. booth at the fair, she declared, compared with 125 for the largest previous year.

Mrs. Thomas also made clear the stand taken by the women of the organization in their refusal to keep their booth open Sunday. She declared that during the entire week of the fair her workers had been handing out literature on the observance of Sunday and that she believed it to be against the principles of the organization to remain open on Sunday.

Mrs. Clara Hodson, of El Modena, superintendent of the soldiers and sailors department, reported the sending of many boxes of fruit, home made articles, candies, cakes and other needed materials to both soldiers and sailors in the various camps. A number of books and magazines also were sent to the army and navy boys, she declared.

WORK FOR VARIOUS UNIONS OUTLINED

Plans for the work of the nine unions of the W. C. T. U. in Orange County were outlined in Huntington Beach yesterday by the various presidents of the unions. Each of the groups will stress child welfare work during the coming year, and will devote a large amount of time to make the tobacco essay contest, fostered by the organization, a success.

Mrs. Daisy Marburger, Anaheim; Mrs. Emma Blanchard, El Modena; Mrs. L. A. Parker, Fullerton; Mrs. L. Beardsley, Garden Grove; Mrs. Lucie Bratt, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Mabel Frost, Orange; Miss Ada Sturdevant, Placentia; Mrs. Effie Nicholson, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Sarah Brown, Tustin, were the women to report.

All reports with the exception of the Tustin paper were given by the presidents of the unions. Mrs. E. Utt, Tustin president, was unable to attend the convention.

Following the ceremony of making Miss Wood a White Ribbon recruit, Miss Louise Wood, eighth grade grammar school girl and winner of the first prize essay of the W. C. T. U. tobacco contest, read her prize winning essay.

Mrs. Laura B. Brantley, of Florida, and Mrs. J. Caldwell, of Tennessee, guests at the convention, also gave short talks to the members of the organization.

Following their usual plan of thoughtfulness, the W. C. T. U. passed a resolution to send letters of sympathy and condolence to Mrs. Elizabeth Mills and Mrs. Belle Rogers, of Santa Ana, who are ill and unable to attend the convention. Both of the women were former county presidents.

BIG CROWD ATTENDS NEW PARK OPENING

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—With all the pomp and ceremonies attendant on an opening day, Wrigley field, new home of the Los Angeles Angels, was thrown open to the public yesterday. A crowd of almost 20,000 persons witnessed the inaugural program.

The luxuriousness of their new home instilled more enthusiasm in the Angels than they have shown in any of their recent games and they defeated the San Francisco Seals, 10 to 8, in the opening game.

Ote ("Doc") Randall, veteran Los Angeles pitcher, was credited with the victory, although he had to retire from the box in the seventh inning when the Seals threatened to overcome the 10-run lead piled up by the Angels in the early innings.

Duffy, Mitchell To Scrap Tonight
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—Jimmy Duffy and Pinky Mitchell, a pair of fighters experienced in the wiles and tricks of the fight game, will meet in the ten round main event of the Olympic auditorium tonight.

Mitchell holds the junior welterweight title, while Duffy is acclaimed Pacific Coast welter champion. Duffy holds a decision over Dave Shade, runner up to Mickey Walker, world's welter champion. Mitchell knocked out Bobby Barrett of Philadelphia in the third round and has a decision over Frankie Schoell.

FAT PEOPLE! HERE IS SOMETHING REAL A New Discovery!

A Pleasant Reducing Chewing Gum

which safely takes off fat at the rate of several pounds a week. Nothing to take Internally—No Diets—No Dangerous Drugs—No Exercises.

"Silph" gives lasting relief from excess FAT—brings back your figure to youthful slenderness.

Through a most marvelous recent discovery scientists have been able to incorporate chewing gum called "Silph"—Doctors—medical authorities, and grateful users, who had been burdened with obesity for years, are amazed at the quick and astonishing results produced by "Silph" in most obstinate cases where everything else seemed to have failed.

The above picture of Mrs. N. of Brooklyn shows you what Silph Reducing Gum has done for a woman who had been overburdened with fat for years and years. Today she is back to her normal weight. All she did was to chew Silph Reducing Gum for a few weeks and here is the result. You can do the same—already hundreds are reducing with Silph everyday.

The moment you start chewing Silph you feel a wonderful change in your system—stomach and intestinal troubles vanish—no more pains or aches—through the flow of saliva mixed with the gastric juices and those extract of sea plants, Silph eliminates from your system certain elements which cause FAT and you will be amazed how easily and quickly you can lose all excess weight.

Silph is not a drug, nor a laxative, but a pleasant reducer in candy form. What could be more pleasant than to chew two or three pieces of gum a day and know that your excess fat is gradually and surely going for good.

Silph not only appeals to people already overburdened with excess fat but to those who have a tendency to obesity. It is a wonderful way to prevent FAT to accumulate on the figure—it is harmless and recognized as a wonderful tonic—recommended to men, women and children, not only for reducing, but to do away with all worn out, tired feet, limbs—Silph sells for 50 cents a box, enough for one week at all drug stores. BEWARE of imitations. "Silph" is the real thing!

Nervous Women Should Try This

Mrs. Lela Cook was nervous and short of breath for 12 years due to gas on the stomach. She tried the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc. (known as Adlerika) and it helped her at once.

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleansing with the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as sold under the name of Adlerika. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food, let Adlerika REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. ONE spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full, bloated feeling.

Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika brings out much additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets, but let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say
Dr. G. Eggers reports Adlerika is the best medicine he has used in 37 years.

Dr. W. H. Bernhart writes he could not get along in his practice without Adlerika.

Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 50 years, says he knows no medicine better than Adlerika.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adlerika regularly with GOOD effect.
J. E. Puckett writes: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. AWFUL impurities were eliminated from my system."
Adlerika is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicine because of its REAL and quick action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere.—Adv.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS TO ADDRESS DELEGATES AT RADIO CONFERENCE HERE

Radio operators of the Pacific coast division of the American Amateur Relay league, in California, Nevada and Southern Utah, will meet here this week, at St. Ann's Inn, for the annual district conference.

One hundred and fifty delegates are expected to attend. Speakers of national prominence will address the conference. The sessions will be held October 2, 3 and 4.

Registration of delegates will be conducted Friday morning. In the afternoon a traffic meeting, to consider problems of relaying messages, will be held.

Hancock In Charge
All arrangements for the conference are being made by the Orange County Radio association. Ray A. Hancock, of Fullerton, is the convention chairman. Aiding in the plans are George Sackman, Santa Ana; Glenn Litten, Orange, and J. E. Waters, Orange.

Glenn Litten, president of the Orange County Radio association, attended the national conference of amateur operators, in Chicago, last month. Many points of the discussion brought up at that conference will be reviewed here.

Extensive plans for holding code contests in receiving and sending, between 10 and 10:30 a. m., will be arranged Saturday.

To Have Swimming Meet
Before noon the delegates will be provided with the use of the Y. M. C. A. plunge for swimming contests.

Technical discussion will be held Saturday afternoon, from 2:30 until 5 o'clock. Speakers who will address the delegates are Hugo Benioff, of the Lick observatory; D. B. McGown, radio inspector for Southern California, and Prof. Carl Strem, of Whittier college.

Professor Strem will give a practical demonstration of radio television, by which pictures are transmitted through the ether.

Others who will speak are Commander Hooper, of the United States navy; Colonel J. F. Dillon, supervisor of radio for the southwestern states, and Elden Smith and Edward Willis, naval operators.

Will Read Paper
A paper by Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor, on "Heavy-side and Ship Distance Theories," given at the national conference in Chicago, will be read by Elden Smith, of Whittier.

A big banquet and hamfest is scheduled for 7:30 Saturday night. At the banquet the award of the Modesto Radio club's Wouff Hong trophy, for the best record in miles-per-watt operation, will be announced.

On the last day of the conference the delegates are to be taken on an automobile tour to the commercial radio stations KOK, at Clearwater, KSE, at San Pedro, and the amateur station 6CGO, at Long Beach. Delegates will leave in the afternoon, when the conference is dismissed.

1000 Chickens Perish As Barn Burns

More than 1000 lives were lost in a fire in Santa Ana yesterday.

Fire, which completely wrecked a barn and other smaller houses on the property of E. D. Allen, 1135 West Highland street, snuffed out the lives of 1000 baby chickens, according to Chief John Luxemburger, of the fire department.

The fire originated when the heater of a brooder, in the barn, caught fire, burning the chickens, and then setting fire to the building.

Total loss was estimated at approximately $600. Fire companies Nos. 1 and 3 answered the alarm.

Rotarians are in session at country club.

The Santa Ana Rotarians and their wives dined yesterday noon at the Santa Ana Country club. The change to the Country club was for one meeting only, and next week the club will meet at St. Ann's as usual.

The visitors were welcomed by H. B. Van Dien, secretary of the Country club. In the response, Guy Gilbert, a Rotarian and a member of the club, outlined many of the benefits that accrue through membership in the Country club.

Earl S. Morrow was in charge of the program. A delightful reading by Miss Alma Elwell was thoroughly enjoyed. A piano solo by Clarence A. Gustlin and a vocal solo by Robert L. Brown featured the musical program.

On his way to Newport Beach to meet the congressional committee on rivers and harbors, Congressman Phil D. Swing was a guest at the meeting and talked for a few minutes. Swing was highly complimentary to the Country club in his praise for the club property.

Many of the visitors remained for an afternoon of golf or cards.

EPWORTH LEAGUE WILL HOLD RALLY

Members of all Epworth leagues in Orange county will hold a rally at the Costa Mesa Community church on Friday evening of this week. The meeting will be called to order at 7:30 o'clock.

This is a "get-acquainted" rally and an exceptionally fine program has been prepared. There are more than 500 Epworth league members in Orange county and it is expected that a large majority will attend.

The Costa Mesa rally is the second of a series being conducted by officers of San Diego District Epworth league, of which Orange county is a member. The first meeting was held last Saturday in San Diego. Another will be held in Riverside county on October 24 and still another in Imperial county some time in November.

All the officers of the district attend these rallies and preside over conferences relating to departmental work.

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 30.—The firm desire of Mrs. May Balsley that she be given a divorce from her husband before she dies from bullet wounds inflicted by him was granted yesterday.

Four months ago, Mrs. Balsley, mother of six children, started divorce action against Adelbert Balsley. Angered over her action, the husband shot her and then himself. He recovered. The wife, her spine paralyzed from bullet wounds, is expected to die.

From the time of the shooting, Mrs. Balsley expressed only one wish—that she live long enough to secure her divorce. Finally it was granted.

Balsley will be prosecuted for murder if his wife dies.

OUTLINES WORK OF W. C. T. U. IN ANNUAL REPORT OF ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Estelle Harper, President of Organization, Sees Movement Success

QUOTES PROMINENT MEN AS ADVOCATES

Speaker Explains Value of Duty Performed in Societies and Schools

Accepting their president's annual report with a burst of applause, the Orange County Woman's Christian Temperance union yesterday afternoon unanimously passed a resolution requesting newspapers to use as much of the report as possible.

The report was declared to be the most concise and forceful message ever delivered by a president of the county organization of the W. C. T. U. Mrs. Estelle Harper, Garden Grove, president, gave the report. Her message dealt with the accomplishments of the Orange county organization and included, also, a tribute to William Jennings Bryan and Mrs. Myrtle Cook.

Following is the report:
On a recent visit to Balboa, watching the sail-boats tossing about in the bay, the thought was forcibly brought to my mind of the wonderful courage and determination of Christopher Columbus as he sailed the unknown seas, and of how many times he was tempted to turn back and give up the object of his dreams.

God had given him a land to discover and he was faithful to the trust put upon him.

Columbus never knew the extent of his discovery nor could he ever fathom the centuries when this land would be peopled with inhabitants from various countries of the world and they would be darting to and fro in automobiles and airplanes, and would be listening

Find Body of Little Girl Drowned in Bath Tub Hidden in Cesspool

TRACY, Calif., Sept. 30.—A dream has proven to be an even greater detective than police and special criminal investigators.

Louis Zamora, a laborer, sold his home to A. D. Delnugo and then disappeared with his wife.

The first night Delnugo slept in the house he had a dream—there was the body of a small child lying at the bottom of a cesspool in his back yard.

The next morning he was out early and started digging in the cesspool. After about 40 minutes' work, his spade hit a wooden box. Pulled out into the yard and open.

APPELLATE COURT HEARING IN CASE OF ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE SLEUTHS DEFERRED

Appellate court hearing of the case of Mrs. Beverly Ward, Mrs. Jessie Wall, E. R. Wall and Frank Martin, Anti-Saloon league investigators, who are charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor in Santa Ana, has been deferred to the October calendar of the district court of appeals, in Los Angeles, according to word received here.

The hearing was postponed Monday, Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin appearing before the court on behalf of the prosecution.

Mrs. Ward, who is the wife of Edward S. Ward, head of the California Intelligence bureau, was convicted by a jury in superior court here, together with her fellow investigators. Former Judge F. C. Drumm granted them a new trial on the showing that two members of the jury had, before the trial, attended preliminary hearing of the case in justice court.

The district attorney's office appealed from the court ruling, contending that the grounds for the new trial motion had to do with qualifications of the jurors, and that such qualifications should have been determined when the jury was selected and could not be questioned afterward.

The four investigators, who were used to obtain evidence of liquor law violations prior to the county-wide liquor raids in December, 1924, were accused of having induced Ivory Shields, 50, a local chauffeur, to purchase gin for them. They offered him a portion of the liquor after he had purchased it, according to testimony at the trial.

PROCEDURE IN COURTROOM IS TOLD BY JUDGE

Ex-barrister Explains Purpose of Argument by Trial Attorneys

Arguments by attorneys at the conclusion of a case are not so much for the purpose of changing the mind of a judge or jury as it is to demonstrate to the client that the attorney is doing the best he can for him, according to a declaration made by F. C. Drumm, former judge of department three of the Orange county superior court, in an address at the meeting of the Santa Ana Exchange club.

Judge Drumm was discussing laws and courts when he made the statement, more or less in a facetious way, in stressing a declaration that men who cuss laws because of the protection they offer are the first to seek the protection of those laws when they themselves get into trouble.

Tells Court Procedure
The former judge recounted court procedure and explained the difference between trial by jury and a trial by judge.

He emphasized the difference by saying that where a case is tried by a judge the judge has to give a decision one way or the other, while a jury may fail to agree or may render either a guilty or not guilty verdict.

Discussing witnesses, Drumm said that it is a simple thing to go into court with a case and an easy matter for settlement if an attorney will let a witness tell his whole story. He pointed out that it is the aim of an attorney, as far as possible, to permit only such evidence as will support the side of his client, and to exclude everything that may be detrimental. He asserted it is a known fact that attorneys make very poor witnesses.

Got Different Impressions
Pointing out that juries do not always get the same impression from testimony, the speaker cited an instance in which virtually the same evidence was given at three trials of a case, with the result that two conviction verdicts were returned and the jury disagreeing in the other.

He intimated belief that probation is granted more often than it should be in justice to every one except the criminal concerned.

He urged co-operation on the part of the general public in assisting courts and peace officers in enforcement of laws.

LOCAL MAN LANDS HUGE BASS AT CATALINA ISLE

Monroe Sharpless and the 279 1/2-pound black bass which he landed early this month while fishing off Santa Catalina island.

Monroe Sharpless Catches Fish Tipping Beam at 279 1/2 Pounds

"Now that's what a tenor can do! What would I have landed had I been a baritone?" asked Monroe Sharpless, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Sharpless, of Newport road, and avocado fame, in showing pictures of the 279 1/2 pound black bass which he caught in the waters just off Catalina island on September 10. The fish was landed after one of the briefest battles in the history of bass fishing on the coast.

Leaving Avalon on a boat captained by Harry Warner of the island, the Orange county Izaak Walton was fishing the bottom of the sea when he hooked the monster bass. His equipment was the ordinary rod shown in the picture with a gaff for bringing the fish aboard. Just 40 minutes after the bass struck, he was played out and Sharpless landed him in the boat by his own unaided efforts, thus establishing a record for time as well as for size of catch.

For the monster bass, tipping the beam at 279 1/2 pounds, was one of the largest fish caught in nearby waters this summer. The feat won the attention of the famous Tuna club of Catalina and a trophy was awarded the young fisherman. Tuna club membership is confined to those who land a bass weighing a minimum of 100 pounds. The taking of the black bass does not qualify for membership, even though it is 179 1/2 pounds in excess of the minimum established by the club.

Sharpless teaches in the schools at the Orange county juvenile home.

FIRE DANGER POINTED OUT BY SECRETARY

Housewives can co-operate in fire prevention week by eliminating fire hazards from their kitchens, declared A. L. Olinger, secretary of the chamber of commerce, today, in directing attention to Fire Prevention week, October 4 to 10.

Asserting that records disclose that on the average three fires occur in American homes every minute, Olinger said that carelessness in handling matches, gasoline, kerosene, electrical appliances, gas and rubbish in kitchens has been responsible for the loss of many lives and millions of dollars worth of property.

The insurance department of the United States offers the following suggestions for preventing fires within kitchens:

"Matches should be kept in tightly covered non-combustible containers. It is especially hazardous to leave them within the reach of little children. Gasoline and benzine frequently cause fires when used to hasten a slow burning fire or when used inside the house for cleaning purposes if a flame is near. The current should always be disconnected from electric pressing irons when leaving them, even if for only a few seconds. Scores of fires have started from overheated irons while housewives have been answering telephones or doorbells.

"When planning a new home, it is advisable to give consideration to the details of the kitchen from a fire prevention and fire protection standpoint. The floors under ranges should be protected by a covering of non-combustible material and the walls behind should be similarly safeguarded. Stove pipes should be kept in good repair from a fire prevention standpoint, and separate from any woodwork. Gas stoves should preferably be placed on metal supports. Pipe connections should be used throughout."

Bobbed Hair Not Much In Evidence At W. C. T. U. Meet

Advocates of the comforts of bobbed hair fall far below par in the opinion of W. C. T. U. of Orange county. This fact was very much in evidence to anyone who attended the meeting of the Orange county Woman's Christian Temperance union, in Huntington Beach, yesterday.

A careful survey showed that in a group of nearly 100 women there were only five, less than one-twentieth, who had their hair bobbed.

Two of the women with the bobbed tresses were declared to be visitors.

"Although the W. C. T. U. members are always busy, we still have time to comb our hair and fix it up, and you know that is the main argument for bobbed hair—to save time," Mrs. Estelle Harper, president of the group, declared.

Judging from the careful coiffure of the members of the organization, one might form the opinion that they were not in favor of bobbed hair, if the time saving argument was to be taken into consideration.

SANTA ANA MAN IN BEACH MEET TAKES SLAP AT SLOT MACHINES

Bloodgood Censures Fair Management for Allowing Games of Chance

RAPS GOVERNOR FOR VETOING MANY LAWS

Women Are Told Rumors Of Widespread Drunkenness Mere Hearsay

A slap at gambling devices and slot machines, approval of the many laws now being enacted by the state and national government and a tribute to the work of the W. C. T. U. and Frances E. Willard were the highlights of a talk given by members of the Orange county Woman's Christian Temperance union at Huntington Beach yesterday afternoon, by Freeman H. Bloodgood, Santa Ana man.

Bloodgood rapped the slot machines soundly in his talk and elicited much applause from the members of the W. C. T. U.

"We pray that there shall be no gambling or slot machines and we should swear out a complaint against them and run them out of business," Bloodgood declared. He added that several towns in Orange county had placed a ban on the slot machines and declared that Santa Ana should get rid of the machines at once.

Condemns Fair Management.
That no one in Santa Ana has the courage to swear out the complaint which will sound the death knell for the machines was Bloodgood's contention. He also condemned the management of the Orange county fair for allowing games of chance to operate on the grounds.

"The officers of the law are our servants, but we must back them up," Bloodgood said.

He declared that there are not too many laws, and that laws which are being passed now by the state and national government are necessary. He condemned Gov. Friend W. Richardson for vetoing nearly one-half of the laws placed before him by the state legislature. The laws define human and property rights, and as these rights are constantly changing, it is necessary that new laws be made to protect them, Bloodgood declared.

Human Life Prolonged.
His topic, which dealt with "Law Observance," was vividly illustrated by the laws of health. Bloodgood showed that during the last several years the average length of life of human beings had been raised more than 20 years through the increased knowledge and observance of health laws.

Bloodgood also recommended drastic measures to prevent the mental decline of the population of today. His argument was that the average mind is classed as that of a 16-year-old child. Most college graduates come in this class. The average working man and his family have minds which average less than 12 years.

Taking the figures as a basis, Bloodgood showed that intellectual persons, college graduates, produced an average family of one and one-half person to every two. The average family of the working man consists of six persons, he stated. "Only 50 per cent of the

FEW OHIO FARMERS FINISH HIGH SCHOOL

Four-fifths of the young men under 26 years of age on Ohio farms never completed high school, according to a survey made in 21 farming communities as summarized by Ohio state university officials.

Further investigation, according to a dispatch from Columbus, shows that 22 per cent have graduated from high school, 23 per cent have completed from one to three grades in high school, 37 per cent have finished the eighth grade and 12 per cent dropped out of school somewhere between the third and eighth grades.

No information was obtained from 6 per cent.

The survey also shows that only one out of every 12 of these men is married.

Four per cent have bought farms of their own, 5 per cent are tenants, 8 per cent are hired men and the remaining 83 per cent farm with their parents.

NEW CHICK FOOD HAS FINE RESULTS

Some startling new developments in chick feeding are suggested by the results of recent trials of a fungous enzymic material under observation at the New Jersey agricultural experiment station at New Brunswick.

Chicks receiving a small amount of the new substance were, at the end of 20 weeks, over one-half pound heavier than those not receiving it.

More than 1000 Leghorn chicks of both sexes, divided into five groups, were used in the investigation.

"SEVEN DAYS" SHOWING AT WEST END

Another screen precedent established in the making of the Christie production, "Seven Days," from the stage play by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Avery Hopwood, is the lack of an extensive and expensive feminine wardrobe.

Some of the cast, which includes such screen luminaries as Lillian Rich, Creighton Hale and Mabel Julienne Scott, go through the whole picture in the same attire. The reason for the seven-day suits and gowns is the fact that the plot arises from the situation of a group of people being unexpectedly marooned in a quarantined home for a week.

Stage and Screen

Betty Blythe who has leading role in "Chu Chin Chow," picture opening today at Walker's theater.

These screen players all seemed delighted with this unusual feature of their roles. The same outfit, without bother of constant change was a treat, they said.

"Seven Days" is showing at the West End Theater. Directed by the man who made "Charley's Aunt," it is promised as a fitting sequel and the equal in every respect for that hilarious screen farce which is still breaking records throughout the country.

YOST THEATER
Seldom have we laughed so heartily as we did last night when the ingenious Charlie Amador made his personal appearance on the stage of the Yost theater. It was a highly appreciative audience that greeted Amador and the comedy of his act is really infectious, for so heartily did the audience laugh that the Yost patrons seemed like one merry family. The comedy incidents in his "Dumb Waiter" sketch come so fast and often there is never a let up. Charlie comes back time and again to rock the house with laughs only to follow it up with his unusually interesting talk in his famous law-suit with the other Charlie, who is known the world over as Charles Chaplin. So cleverly is his act devised that the entertainment holds one entranced throughout its entire showing.

In "Off the Highway" the feature picture at the Yost, William V. Mong is called upon to play the parts of a miserly old bachelor and his own servant who looks and acts like the master but is not so cruel and bitter. The difference in the characters of these two men make it necessary for Mong to make the numerous fine shadings which distinguishes the servant from the master, and he acquits himself with honors.

WALKER'S THEATER
A great vaudeville bill and a feature picture that is a thriller comprise the new bill which opens today at Walker's.

Prince Leo, the pony with the human brain, heads the vaudeville bill. He is a marvelously trained quadruped, telling the time of day, counts, subtracts and multiplies at the word of his trainer. It seems almost unbelievable that any animal can be taught to tell quickly the answer to the questions fired at him by his handler, but Prince Leo does all this without hesitation and seems to enjoy the mystification of his audiences by his intelligence. A special setting is carried to enhance the value of the offering from the spectators standpoint, while special furniture and properties are also carried to lend richness and give atmosphere to the act.

Reno, Bodie and Reno is Pantomime Absurdities, proffer a whirlwind novelty routine of tumbling and pantomime comedy. These three young chaps were formerly featured with the sensational success of "Thirty Pink Toes." Their present offering with their bumps and falls should prove a solid laughing hit.

Blondy Robinson, the eccentric comedian, can be truthfully said to have educated feet and, in addition he has the faculty of being able to tell stories that are really humorous.

Tait, Zelle and Sandre present a classy melange of singing, dancing and music, and are bound to appeal to all classes. They are artists in everything they do and with their snappy work and peppy personality will be welcomed by any audience.

Marian Mahr is a delineator of negro songs and stories and has the faculty of putting her mannerisms over the footlights. Her happy smile and genial personality is sure to win her friends.

"Chu Chin Chow" the feature picture with Betty Blythe in the leading role, is an adaptation of the famous stage success of the same name. It is the tale of an Arabian Robin Hood amid the splendors of Old Baghdad; of the lovely Zahrat and her heart warming romance. It is a picture full of flaming action, thrilling color and seething intrigue.

rough that he ordered them to sit down.

"You two let in two runs with that stunt," Harris said. "You can't get those runs back by talking. Go out there and knock in two runs and you'll make up for it."

Callie Manager's Hand
"They kept on ragging at each other and Harris ordered them to keep quiet. Matthews closed up and sat down, but Goslin looked belligerently at Harris and said:

"Shut up yourself. You're not big enough to make me shut up." "Harris walked over to him like he was ready to let one go and said in an ordinary voice: "You pick up your little bat and your little glove and go to the club house. I'll show you that you're not so good we can't get along without you. I want you to be out of the club house with all your stuff when the game is over and I don't want to see you until you are ready to apologize in front of the whole team and until you have dug down in your pockets for a $100 fine."

"The players were open-mouthed in awe when Goslin walked to the club house and they were amazed the following day to see Goslin walk into the club house and hear him tell the bunch that he was sorry and that he was going to soldier for Harris."

ed, this box gave up the body of little Lenora Aguilar, 4-year-old daughter of Mrs. Zamora.

Mystery Is Solved
Thus was a mystery that has baffled police for many months cleared up. Last Christmas Lenora disappeared. Neighbors who missed her cheerful shout from among the children at play wondered. But Mrs. Zamora never mentioned the child nor attempted to give any explanation for her absence.

Tales were circulated that Mrs. Zamora had brutally murdered the little girl and buried her in the back yard. Police learned of this and immediately took up the investigation. They questioned Zamora and his wife and even dug up the back yard but there was no trace of Lenora.

With the finding of the little girl's body by Delugo and the disappearance of the Zamora's, Raymond Zacharias, their 10-year-old adopted son, has told the story of how Lenora met her death.

"My sister Mary had been outside playing with me," said Raymond. "When we entered the house we saw Lenora tied by her hands to the doorknob. Mother had done that to punish her."

"She was left there for several hours, then mother took her, with her hands still tied, and put her into the bath tub full of water. Mother held her under the water for a long time—until she was dead I guess. Then she told Mary and me if we said anything she would kill us."

"The next day I was told to dig a hole in the back yard to plant a flower. Before it was quite finished, they gave me some money and told me to take Mary to a show. When we came back, the hole was all filled in again."

Police have been unable to find Zamora and his wife.

NEWS from ORANGE COUNTY

ENTER FOR MEXICANS IS ANAHEIM PLAN

ANAHEIM, Sept. 30.—Plans look to the establishment of a dis-Mexican community center in the Mexican residents of Anaheim and Fullerton districts may purchase for themselves estates and in which more effective Americanization work may be carried on will be laid at a meeting called for next day night in the Elks' club, this city, sponsored by the committee of the Anaheim Chamber of Commerce.

The plan, which Secretary Reid carried today has been successful, carried out in other Southern California cities, already has endorsement of local school districts, packing house managers, as well as many civic organizations.

Joseph Scott, of Los Angeles, a welfare worker, and one of the ablest speakers in Southern California, is to be the principal speaker. Other speakers will be J. C. Clays, principal of the Anaheim Union High school; L. E. Ainsworth, principal of the Fullerton Union High school; Melvin Ainsworth, superintendent of Anaheim grammar schools, and Miss D. R. Key, superintendent of Americanization work of both the Anaheim and Fullerton high schools.

Flames Burn Teacher At Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Sept. 30.—Flames leaping unexpectedly from the oven of the kitchen stove over which she was working early yesterday morning severely burned Miss Anna Cresalia, 125 North Clementine street, this city, a teacher at the Anaheim union high school.

The injured woman was removed to the Anaheim sanatorium. It is expected she will be confined for several days. Her back, left shoulder and left arm were burned.

ORANGE RELIEF FUND CHAIRMAN ISSUES APPEAL

ORANGE, Sept. 30.—In an earnest appeal to those who have failed to contribute, F. L. Ainsworth, chairman of the Santa Barbara relief fund drive in Orange, today urged renewed efforts in the campaign.

Ainsworth, in his statement, declared that just a little more than one-third of the $3000 quota for Orange has been raised to date, despite the intensive drive carried on by the various teams.

Ainsworth declared that the fact that the relief drive was deferred until a late date after the actual disaster at Santa Barbara has made it more difficult for the workers to raise the money.

In connection with citizens who have not yet been reached by the drive committee, Ainsworth declared that they could deposit checks for whatever amount they wished to contribute at any of the local banks.

UNDERWEIGHT CHILDREN TO GET ATTENTION

ANAHEIM, Sept. 30.—Children in the Anaheim grammar schools who are underweight are to receive attention in the physical development program which Superintendent M. A. Gauer is instituting in this district, it was revealed today.

Nutrition classes, intended primarily for all children seven percent and more below the average weight for their height, but open to all pupils whose parents wish them to attend, are to be held each morning at 10 o'clock in all the schools of the district. Superintendent Gauer announced this morning. A half pint of either raw or pasteurized milk, as the parents choose, a straw and a cracker will be furnished at cost to each child attending these classes. The very best grade of milk is to be used and a charge of 25 cents per pupil will be made, it is said.

Besides the milk and cracker, the children attending the nutrition classes will be given practical talks by the school nurses on healthful living. Every effort will be made to help each child gain his normal weight, Mr. Gauer said.

Nurses are busy this week weighing all students of the various schools and all those who are underweight are being given a card showing their weight as compared with how much they should weigh. It is planned to weigh all children monthly so that parents may be aided in keeping an accurate check on their development.

OREGON IS ALARMED OVER DEVASTATION OF FORESTS, SAYS LAGUNA CAPITALIST

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 30.—The state of Oregon is becoming alarmed over the devastation of its forests by the great lumber companies, according to Howard G. Heisler, Laguna Beach capitalist, and one of the leading figures of Southern California, who has just returned from an extended trip to the north.

The Portland newspapers, Mr. Heisler says, are demanding that the lumber interests co-operate with the state in the matter of reforestation and are urging action by the state legislature to preserve the water sheds. Mr. Heisler pictured modern electric cutting machines eating their way through the great Oregon forests and cutting millions of feet where formerly thousands were saved. The machines are a mark of the progress of civilization, but the companies, in their rush to cut as much in the shortest space of time, burn their waste material behind them and destroy the young growth, he says.

"I was impressed by the wonderful expanse of virgin forest," said Mr. Heisler, "and the seeming lack of interest on the part of the large lumber companies in reforestation or care in the preservation of the unregrowth."

"Oregon now has all of the water it needs, but it is the history of nations that lands denuded of forests become arid. The Portland newspapers are awakening the people of the state to their duty in the matter of preserving water sheds for the use of the future generations. They are educating their readers to the necessity of water conservation."

"A trip through the Bend country would make one heart sick. Mile after mile of lands are laid bare. After passing through the wonderful wooded lands of the northern country, these denuded spots impress one with the necessity of bringing pressure to bear upon the lumber barons for co-operation in the matter of reforestation and the preservation of the young growth."

Mr. Heisler was accompanied by Mrs. Heisler and Mrs. Heisler's sister, Mrs. Georgia Denning. They drove from Laguna Beach to Seattle and from there took the boat to Alaska, where they found conditions were very quiet. The population of the Yukon district has decreased so much that the moose and caribou are returning in great herds. The country around Lake Bennett and the famous Chilkoot Pass of gold rush days is now a sportsman's paradise, for both fishing and hunting.

The tourist travel was very heavy, the steamers being loaded to capacity on all trips. There were excellent accommodations everywhere. Southern California was well represented among the travelers.

"The most wonderful day of the Alaskan trip was our visit to Taku Glacier," says Mr. Heisler. "The boat passed within 600 feet of the great mountain of ice that guards Taku inlet and it is one of the most inspiring sights in the world."

"Trade conditions are looking up in Vancouver, which is one of the most beautiful cities of Canada. The town has several beautiful residential districts and some magnificent parks. Stanley park, with its great trees, has no equal in America for a city park. It is unique and unusual with its many giant trees. The re-adjustment of grain rates by the government has reacted in favor of the west coast and the great wheat fields of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are sending their product out to the world through Vancouver. This has served to stimulate business to a high degree and the town is optimistic in its outlook."

"We found that Oregon county is well known in the north as one of the most prosperous sections of the country. Santa Ana and Laguna Beach are favorably known. In fact, Oregon county is recognized as a desirable location. It is best known for its Valencia oranges."

Eight first graders have enrolled this fall. They are: Kenneth Edwards, Gertrude Houser, Joy Morgan, Alvin Graham, Fredrick Peters, Mildred Ruoff, Jack Hand and Edward Wentzel.

Five other new pupils are in the school. They are: Alvin Hand, third grade; Maxine Hand, fourth grade; Mildred Hand, second grade; Roy Wentzel, sixth grade, and Zelma Wentzel, seventh grade.

The upper classes are taught by the principal, Mrs. J. W. Young, who last year was primary teacher in the school. Mrs. J. R. Randall, of Santa Ana, is primary teacher this term.

A beam is janitor at the new school and is busy this week putting everything in order. Monday, the library was moved over from the old school building.

ORANGE CHAMBER SEEKING MEMBERS

ORANGE, Sept. 30.—Secretary V. D. Johnson was instructed Monday by the directors to arrange for a meeting between the directors and the firm of Stevenson & Schoube, who put on a successful membership campaign at the organization of the chamber of commerce, three years ago. Should the conference result in the employment of Stevenson & Schoube, it will be on an economic basis that will justify the arrangement, and will be followed by an aggressive membership campaign.

The constitution provides that those in arrears for more than three months may be dropped from the rolls by action of the directors. It was decided that while this rule would not be enforced, in the future those in arrears for six months would be dropped. This decision of the directors was made following the showing that the chamber of commerce has been carrying some names not only for one year but in some instances for two or more years. This condition of affairs makes constantly for a very discouraging financial outlook, and while recognizing that many in arrears really have the good of the community at heart, nothing can be gained by carrying constantly a long list of delinquents, it was declared.

The occasion is being prepared. The entertainment given Friday evening by George Shaffer, impersonator, of Long Beach, under the auspices of the Methodist Ladies' Aid society of Wintersburg, proved most successful, both as to entertainment and to finances. A good sized crowd heard Mr. Shaffer and was greatly pleased with his program. A total of $16.50 was added to the fund being raised by the society.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Kanawyer entertained as overnight guests recently Mrs. Kanawyer's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Roberson, of Long Beach.

Meek Coker was taken very ill Saturday night but was improving at the last report.

Mrs. W. P. Treece motored to Corona on a business trip Monday.

Mrs. W. P. Treece is entertaining as a house guest in her home for the week, her mother, Mrs. L. A. Portz, of Long Beach, and her two-month-old baby, Tuesday. Mrs. Treece and Mrs. Portz, drove to Long Beach, where they visited another daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Nelson and three children, of San Fernando valley, were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. Nelson's mother, Mrs. Chris Nelson.

Wintersburg

WINTERSBURG, Sept. 30.—Appointment of the teachers for the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school for the year which begins with next Sunday, was made at the close of Sunday school Sunday morning by the superintendent, Mrs. W. F. Slater.

In the beginners' department, Mrs. Sherman Buck is to be in charge for the first year and Miss Vivian Baker for the second year.

Mrs. Lillie Moore is to have charge of the primary department. The juniors will have three teachers, Mrs. E. Ray Beem, second year, and Miss Moore, first year, and Miss Florence Sauter, girls' class. The intermediates are in one class and will have as their teacher, Mrs. Elmer Turner. The seniors are divided into two classes, with Johnny Murdy and Miss Ethel Dwyer as teachers. Two Bible classes for men and women will be in charge of R. L. Thiebaud and Mrs. J. Scott Willmuth, respectively.

As a result of the decision of a recent Sunday school board meeting, the following were named: Mrs. W. F. Slater, superintendent; John Murdy Jr., assistant superintendent; June Slater, secretary-treasurer; John Murdy, choir leader; Muriel Moore, pianist; Juliette Blaylock, piano; Mrs. G. M. Roberson, home department superintendent; Mrs. Sherman Buck, cradle roll superintendent; Mrs. E. M. Fox, missionary superintendent; R. L. Thiebaud, temperance superintendent.

All of the officers and teachers will be installed at the rally day meeting. A special program for

FIVE NURSES TO GRADUATE IN FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Sept. 30.—Five nurses will graduate from the Fullerton General hospital on Thursday evening. Commencement exercises will be conducted at the Ebell clubhouse. Members of the graduating class are: Miss B. Gertrude McWilliams, of Buena Park; Miss Mildred C. Johnson, of Buena Park; Miss Adene B. Wilcox, of Los Angeles; Miss Pearl J. Brown, of Tulare, and Mrs. Freda E. Howard, of Los Angeles. Graduates of 1924 will act as ushers.

Cloyd, with Mrs. H. H. House as accompanist.

The Rev. W. E. Roberts, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of Santa Ana, will address the graduates, and Dr. H. A. Johnston will present the diplomas. A pin will be presented to each graduate by Mrs. Bowers, superintendent of the hospital. Dr. W. H. Wickett arranged the program.

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 30.—Building permits for the first nine months of 1925 total $338,495, according to figures given out today by City License Collector J. A. Porter. Permits for this month total $17,000.

The reports show that more than 100 homes costing more than $2500 have been built this year and that many prominent people from all parts of Southern California have residences in this section. Among the new homes now under construction are: A $5000 home in East Newport for Arthur B. West, of Riverside; a $4500 residence on Balboa Island for J. C. Spelson, of Los Angeles; a $2500 dwelling on the bay front for Katharine Dryer, of Santa Ana; a $2500 house on Balboa Island for E. R. Zube, of Pasadena.

A number of handsome bungalows will be constructed on the Peninsula soon, it is said. Work will start before the first of the year, according to reports. In addition, another high class subdivision is now under way just below Balboa under the supervision of Robert Frick, of Los Angeles.

EXCHANGES GROVE FOR L. A. PROPERTY

ORANGE, Sept. 30.—Howard O. Williams, realtor and insurance man announces the exchange of his North Glassell citrus grove for Los Angeles property.

Mr. Williams states that the sale will in no way affect his residence and business connections in Orange. He expects to send his daughters, Grace and Helen, to college in Los Angeles but will continue to reside here and maintain his main business office in Orange.

The branch office of the Williams concern at 3980 West Sixth street, Los Angeles, will be continued as a feeder office for the local main office.

Conditions In China Told By Club Speaker

FULLERTON, Sept. 30.—Declaring that China is turning into a democracy and that only time is needed for the development of the new type of government, the Rev. Remmy-Hunt addressed the Fullerton Kiwanis club at its meeting yesterday noon. Recent troubles in the country were discussed and the new era which is dawning through the efforts of the educated students was described.

"Frosh" Get Surprise Initiation

FULLERTON, Sept. 30.—When unsuspecting freshmen of the Fullerton junior college responded to the engraved invitations issued them by the sophomore class to a reception last evening, visions of the usual receiving line, a buffet supper and "highbrow" entertainment were foremost in their minds. Instead, they were rudely disillusioned on their arrival at the clubroom, for nothing awaited them.

The "frosh" were tied together by their merciless hosts and led to Chapman's Alifian Court theater, where they were instructed in college songs and yells. Returning to the school, other forms of torture were applied but as a conclusion to the affair, the sophomores promised a real reception soon.

BUILDING FOR MONTH SHOWS $17,000 TOTAL

Reports that the South Basin Oil company, in which Dabney and Delaney are said to be the moving spirits, had shut down on its wells in the West Newport area, are denied. The South Basin company has not been pumping for months because all its tanks were full, the delay being due to the fact that the refinery has not been put in successful operation, it is asserted. This refinery is now engaged in perfecting a process to extract water from the crude oil.

BANK TELLER CHOSEN HEAD OF NEW CLUB

ANAHEIM, Sept. 30.—Evan S. Alsip, teller of the First National bank, this city, was Monday night chosen to head the Young Men's "Y" club, an organization of young men being formed here by Secretary John H. Rudd of the local Y. M. C. A.

The new organization is designed to provide social, spiritual and recreational activities for men of the city between the ages of 24 and 40 years.

Other officers elected at last night's organization meeting were: First vice president, E. W. Lemberg; second vice president, M. A. Falkner; secretary, N. P. Henderson; treasurer, R. J. Grange. Directors will be Lloyd S. Ross, W. Hochuli, Fletcher Galloway and H. McFarland.

A meeting of the board has been called by President-elect Alsip for this week, when arrangements for a general membership meeting will be made.

MARINE WELL HAS SHOWING, REPORT

NEWPORT BEACH, Sept. 30.—Reports received today indicate that the Marine corporation, drilling its No. 1 well at Costa Mesa, picked up a live showing of oil at 1900 feet. This well is on the George Waterman lease. The showing is said to have found the showing, between 1860 and 1880 feet, live oil appearing in the ditch.

No attempt was made to stop and test the showings, as the previous geological information indicated that the formations above 3000 feet in this area are not productive. The showings are regarded by the Marine as favorable.

Two wells drilled years ago on either side of the Marine No. 1 found light oil at about 3000 feet, but, due to limited mechanical facilities at the time, were never successfully completed. The Marine corporation, which operates in the Signal Hill and other fields, has recently removed its offices from Long Beach to Los Angeles.

Reports that the South Basin Oil company, in which Dabney and Delaney are said to be the moving spirits, had shut down on its wells in the West Newport area, are denied. The South Basin company has not been pumping for months because all its tanks were full, the delay being due to the fact that the refinery has not been put in successful operation, it is asserted. This refinery is now engaged in perfecting a process to extract water from the crude oil.

The Human Element In Real Estate Loans

Many people make the mistake of negotiating short term loans on their properties, expecting that something will turn up to take care of the loan when due.

Result—they are obliged to renew loans at considerable trouble, under less favorable conditions, with added brokerage.

WE Offer a Popular TEN YEAR LOAN which protects you against this very human element.

Don't Let This Happen some day in YOUR home

The walls and ceilings of your home should be more than mere partitions, separating the various rooms. They should SHELTER and PROTECT the contents of the home and its inmates — and will — if Buttress Wallboard is used.

This strong, durable material eliminates the danger of plaster falling in your home — perhaps on costly furniture, or even trapping wife or child underneath.

Buttress Wallboard Never Drops Off

YOU can avoid the appearance of ugly cracks and bulges in your walls and ceilings by using Buttress Wallboard. It never cracks, crumbles, rots or warps. Neither do rats, mice or vermin cut their way through; nor alkali or lime make stains on your paint or wallpaper finish, as often happens with plastered walls; nor does it ignite, or burn, or carry sound.

A Buttress Wallboard home — whether a small bungalow or a pretentious mansion — is a home of comfort and enduring charm — cool in summer, snug and warm in winter.

Buttress Wallboard is made of gypsum rock plaster, compressed for strength between two sheets of heavy paper. It comes in broad, ceiling-high panels, ready to be nailed to the joists and studding — combining both lathing and plastering in the one operation. It is a splendid building material that can be depended upon for permanent satisfaction.

W. B. Sand-Finish for Wallboard Buttress W. B. Sand-Finish produces an effect on wallboard that looks exactly like a sand-finished plastered wall. It can be applied by anyone — just like ordinary paint. It comes in ten standard colors. Vastly better than using battens, kalsomine or wallpaper.

When you order Wallboard or "W.B." Finish from your Lumber Dealer be sure to specify "BUTTRESS."

BOARD VOTES IMMEDIATE CONSTRUCTION OF BUILDING; CAFETERIA TO ADJOIN PLANT

Plans for the construction at the Santa Ana high school of one of the finest gymnasiums in Southern California, to cost approximately $100,000 and to include a standard basketball court, an auxiliary floor, classrooms, team rooms, shower and locker rooms and all with full equipment, were announced today by the city board of education. A cafeteria will be built to connect with the structure. A covered swimming pool will be added later.

The building will be erected on the present site of the automobile sheds, directly north of the shops buildings. Roughly, the structure will be 150 feet in length and 140 feet in width and will be one-story of plain but substantial construction.

Big Bowling Leagues To Begin Oct. 12

Santa Ana bowlers were interested today in the announcement that the Los Angeles Association's traveling leagues, in which seven local teams are entered, will begin the week of October 12.

The Mercantile league opens October 12 with 13 teams. The Commercial league, with 14 starters, begins October 14. The Southern California, with 26 clubs, starts October 15. The Junior league opens October 16.

Santa Ana has two teams in the Mercantile, Commercial and Southern California circuits and one in the Junior league.

BUCKY HARRIS REAL MANAGER OF CHAMPIONS

BY HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—After Bucky Harris had surprised the baseball world last year by winning a pennant and a world series in his first year as a manager, some observers who were not swayed by sentiment said that young leader of the Washington Senators won with the aid of luck and the counsel of Clarke Griffith, owner of the club.

In the closing days of the pennant race, when the Senators were whipped into high speed to beat out the New York Yankees, Griffith occupied a box near the Washington dugout and it was thought that he was having an unofficial seat with the board of strategy.

"Harris did have some luck last year. Every champion team has to have some luck. But Bucky Harris ran the team the way he wanted it run and Griffith didn't have a word to say about it," a veteran official, who has been in active contact with the players for years, recently said.

What Made "Bucky"
"It was a little incident in which Harris asserted himself last season that made a great manager of him and a great team of the Senators. It was along in mid-season and Washington was just a second division ball club. The team was enjoying a winning streak of four or five games—which was good for Washington—when Goose Goslin and "Spark Plug" Matthews got into a fight on the bench.

"Goslin was playing his regular position in left field and Matthews was playing center field. Their hitting and fielding had been responsible largely for the winning streak and they got to thinking well of themselves. In this particular game, a fly ball dropped safely between Goslin and Matthews and they almost came to blows when they got to the bench. Harris listened to the talk until it got so loud and

GODFREY TOO GOOD FOR MARTIN BURKE

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30.—George Godfrey, negro heavyweight challenger for Jack Dempsey's crown, outclassed Martin Burke, New Orleans, in a ten round bout at Vernon ball park last night. Burke elected to fight a defensive battle and managed to stick the limit. In only one round did Godfrey show his reputed form. He floored Burke three times in the third, but won every one of the ten rounds. The displeased fans showered the fighters with cushions at the conclusion.

With the opening of the new million dollar Wrigley park yesterday, Los Angeles now has the finest minor league ball park in America. The stadium will seat 30,000 spectators with its double deck seating arrangement. It is the home of the Los Angeles club, owned by William Wrigley Jr. The 175-foot tower will house the offices of the club. DEMPSEY, WILLS SIGN POLY TO PLAY ORANGE

OCTOBER 10 IS DATE FOR GAME BETWEEN FOES

Santa Ana high school's first football game of the 1925 season will be played at Poly field Saturday, October 10 against Orange. Coach "Chuck" Winterburn announced today. Winterburn and M. J. Berg, Orange mentor, agreed on the contest late yesterday.

Local fans remember that it was this same Orange crew that put Poly off on the wrong foot last fall, beating the Santa Anas, 6 to 0, in the first game of the season. The neighboring city crew then went on to win its league championship and enter the semi-finals for the Southern California title. Winterburn hopes to avenge that reversal which was the first for Poly in the history of Orange-Santa Ana games.

The Santa Ana-Long Beach contest which will open the Coast Preparatory league season will be played here Friday, October 16 instead of Saturday October 17, it was announced. The date was moved ahead in order to avoid conflict with the Stanford-U. S. C. game at Los Angeles.

The Class B contest between the two schools will be played at Long Beach the same afternoon. The Class C bout will be decided here Thursday, October 15.

With but six more days of practice available before the Orange game, school authorities announced that Poly field hereafter will be closed to all persons except those possessing cards signed by Principal D. K. Hammond, Vice Principal W. M. Clayton, members of the

Rickard Says He'll Stop Dempsey Bout

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Legal action will be started against Jack Dempsey by Tex Rickard if the heavyweight champion attempts to fight Harry Wills for any other promoter.

Rickard is awaiting the return from the west of Paddy Mullins, Wills' manager, to get the background of the signing or articles yesterday for a Dempsey-Wills fight next September.

"I have a two-way agreement with Dempsey to fight for me," Rickard said. "I have Dempsey's verbal promise and several telegrams and I have an agreement that Jack Kearns signed as his manager."

"Dempsey can't double-cross me and I'm surprised that he is trying to pull off anything like that."

coaching staff or the board of education.

"We are making no attempt to hold secret practice and we want townspeople to come down and watch our practice but we want to make sure they are persons with the best interest of the school at heart," Winterburn said. "Cards may be obtained from any responsible person connected with the school and they will be honored by the guards at the gate. We ask only that these spectators remain in the bleachers."

TOWNSEND AND KRUEGER JOIN COLLEGE TEAM

Although Leon ("Chappie") Townsend and Cass Krueger, two boys good enough to make any man's football team, became members of the Santa Ana junior college squad, Coach Graham Harris was in anything but a happy frame of mind when he ordered his cohorts to the showers last night.

Harris had something else to worry about. In scrimmage with Stewart White's Tustin high school eleven, Harris discovered his backfield was either terribly slow or just stale and he was a worried football mentor. The local backs found their wide end runs and open play formations were virtually useless. His ball packers showed more "swiftness."

"By rights, everyone of you ought to have to run back to town," he shouted at his squad after the strenuous workout.

Townsend, star guard on the local high school team for two seasons, and last year fullback on the college outfit, donned a suit yesterday, having returned to school that morning. Harris put him at end so the versatile "Chappie" may be a wingman this fall. Krueger, quarterback on the champion Orange eleven last season, was expected to report for practice this afternoon. He is a heavy signal barker and a mighty sweet ball carrier.

The junior college eleven meets

Favorites In Running for Women's Title

ST. LOUIS COUNTRY CLUB, CLAYTON, Mo., Sept. 30.—With all of the favorites playing consistently brilliant games, the second elimination round in the women's national amateur golf tournament got under way here this afternoon.

Mrs. Alexa Stirling Frazer of Ottawa, Canada, and Atlanta, is paired with Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, Wis.

Other pairings include: Miss Mary K. Browne, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn Jr., Chicago; Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd of Philadelphia, and Mrs. F. C. Letts, Chicago; Mrs. Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, and Miss Helen Tillotson, Toledo, Ohio; Miss Glenna Collette, Providence, R. I., and Miss Ada Mackenzie, Toronto.

Loyola College in Los Angeles Saturday in the second practice game of the year. The full strength of the local team is expected to be thrown against the Lions to avenge the 13 to 17 defeat suffered last year.

Coach Harris says that the Lions are fast but light. It is in the open running that Harris is drilling his team to meet them.

A hard pre-season schedule is being arranged for the junior college squad before the opening league clash with Pasadena on October 17.

EVENING SALUTATION

Through the harsh noises of our day
A low, sweet prelude finds its way;
Through clouds of doubt, and creeds of fear,
A light is breaking, calm and clear.
That song of love, now low and far,
Ere long shall swell from star to star!
That light, the breaking day, which tips
The golden-spined apocalypse.

—John G. Whittier.

SHOWS WHAT WATER MEANS

Yesterday's Register carried a news item that was an eloquent argument in favor of water conservation and water development. In brief, the item said that irrigated lands this year are turning off from twenty to twenty-five sacks of lima beans while unirrigated lands are showing from one to three sacks. A large acreage of unirrigated lands was not planted this year, so that the average production of dry bean land for the year is probably not a sack to the acre. Lima beans are worth $12.50 a sack. Irrigated lands are bringing their owners this year around $250 an acre, while unirrigated lands are averaging $12.50 an acre.

Even in good years, unirrigated lands are doing well when they produce ten or eleven sacks to the acre. So there is never a year when irrigated acreage does not yield double what is produced on land that is watered only by rainfall, and in dry years, such as this has been, the land under irrigation produces twenty to twenty-five times as much as the average dry land.

What's water conservation and water development mean, then, to land not now irrigated? Figure it out for yourself. What does it mean this year, and what does it mean over a period of five or ten years?

Water does away with most of the gamble that there is in production. Hot spells and other weather conditions, of course, have their bearing on production, but those matters are not of enough consequence to disturb the general statement that water, in relation to any piece of bean land, is the one element necessary for stability in production. Price conditions would not vary so greatly were all bean lands irrigated, for if all bean lands were irrigated the annual production would be easier to figure out, and the market would not be subjected to fluctuations caused by doubt concerning the size of crops.

Beans are a lesson in water value. We have similar lessons ever before us in the presence of our citrus and walnut groves. Without water, there would be no groves in our valley. The measure of the prosperity and even the existence of the groves already planted lies in the maintenance of their water supply. And the lack of water alone puts a limitation to the acreage that can be planted to orchard.

WANT THE WORLD COURT

The National Association of Credit Men asks for American participation in the Court of International Justice. A declaration adopted at Atlantic City suggests that:

"The propriety of this country's co-operation in the World Court has been amply studied and discussed by the legislative and executive branches of the government," and expresses a hope that "without further delay the United States may acquire the great privilege and undertake the relatively small responsibilities of adherence to the court."

This is a temperate and reasonable attitude. The men assuming it both speak as American citizens and as credit experts, who believe that membership in such a tribunal would benefit American prestige and trade abroad, while making practical application of American ideals and doing no imaginable harm.

Plenty of other Americans take the same view, including the President of the United States and a big majority in the house of representatives. But there is never any telling what the Senate will do.

PROTECTS HER CHILDREN

The child labor situation is far from hopeless. Notable steps have been taken by several states, since the federal amendment was rejected, to protect their own children. Georgia is a conspicuous example.

It has always been said, by outsiders at least, that the Georgia cotton manufacturers wouldn't let that state safeguard its children from "child slavery." Georgia has just answered that charge by enacting a law, to take effect next year, forbidding the employment of any child under 14 in any manufacturing industry, forbidding the employment of children from 14 to 16 at night or in hazardous occupations at any time, and requiring all children of employable age to show evidence that they can read and write English and are physically fit for the work.

And credit for this law is given to the Georgia cotton manufacturers.

Here is a procedure which goes far to make amends for the rejection of the child labor amendment. Its imitation in every state not already possessing such legislation would remove a blot from the name of America.

THE ART OF SILENCE

In an address delivered by Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the Steel Trust, to young people attending a school of commerce, along with some of the customary moralizing of successful business men, are found these two gems:

"The most successful in business are those who have persistently devoted their personal time and attention to the concentration and improvement of one line of activity. In other words, 'Specialize!'"

"The average man talks too much, especially if he has a good command of language. It is well to let the other man talk half the time."

This last statement puts a great truth conservatively. Judge Gary has arrived at his present position of wealth, eminence and power largely by the process of letting the other man do about 99 per cent of the talking, contenting himself for the most part with a courteous "yes" or "no." He discovered long ago that the less you talk to the other fellow, the more time you have to think about what he is saying, and to see into, around and through him.

FALSE FASHION NEWS

Bobbed hair, say foreign dispatches, will soon be passe. They're letting the hair grow again in Paris. And that should settle the question for the feminine universe.

Maybe! We seem to remember having read just such wild news as this from abroad for years and years, varied only by reports that New York, next in prestige to Paris, was banning the bobs. And what came of it? Why, the bobs got shorter and shorter, and more and more masculine, until it has reached a pass—or possible an impasse—where the only way you can tell whether it's a male or female sitting in the chair ahead is by running the eye down the neck and observing how far the bareness extends.

Same with skirts. Always longer skirts are forecast, and always they get bobbed and bobbed. Fashion prophecies used to have a 100 per cent rating. Now they are more un dependable than weather prophecies. Women are getting out of hand in fashion.

The World Is Rather Small

San Francisco Chronicle

A good example of the distance at which obscure causes may operate in the modern world comes out of current heavy shipments of gold from New York to the Straits Settlements.

There is no trace of reason for this movement of gold. It represents neither goods bought nor enterprise launched. It is simply because this happens to be the marriage season on the Malay peninsula and Malay custom fits out the bride with a dower of gold coins.

So in order that Malay weddings this year may be done up right, New York bankers—it used to be London bankers—have to pack up boxes of gold coin and ship them off to Singapore. And this year, because crude rubber has been high, Malay papas feel richer than usual, hence more generous toward their daughters, and so more than the ordinary amount of dower gold is in demand.

The world is obviously moving along toward the stage where if a crocodile bites a native in Central Africa the inhabitants of Tulsa, Okla., will feel it in some way.

Shows Riverside's Growth

Riverside Press

The following item appeared in the "Ten, Twenty and Thirty" years ago column of the Press Wednesday:

September 23, 1895

Riverside high school has largest enrollment of any opening day in history, 155. Total school registration is 1187.

That was only 39 years ago. The Riverside schools opened this week with a total registration of 5000; there are 900, in round numbers, in the senior high school; 900 in the two junior high schools; and over 250 in the junior college. Within a very short time there will be enrolled in these three departments of secondary education in the city 2200 students, or almost double the total enrollment of all the schools in 1895. The secondary school enrollment has increased 15 times in the thirty years.

Just scan those figures a bit and you will realize that Riverside is growing.

Surgeon General, United States Health Service

STUDY OF GERMS HAS CHECKED PLAGUES
In early times, before the causes of epidemic diseases were known, the ancient peoples ascribed epidemics to the work of the demons or evil spirits.

Some looked upon them as just punishment meted out to a sinful world for sins committed, and many of these beliefs in the supernatural origin of disease have come down from the early days to our own times.

It is not surprising that the ancient and medieval peoples were terrified by epidemic diseases, because practically nothing was known of their cause, or of the means by which they were spread.

Today a well-informed person knows that if he desires to prevent smallpox, either because of the fear of death, or the fear of disfigurement, he needs only to be vaccinated. If he is recently successfully vaccinated, he can be absolutely certain that he is protected against smallpox.

Bubonic plague is a disease of rats, and is transferred to man by fleas which, leaving the rat after it dies from the plague, will bite man or the first warm-blooded animal that they encounter.

We have had plague on our Pacific and Gulf coasts.

Even if plague should appear in our Atlantic seaports we now know that if we keep away from rats and fleas we will not contract plague. If there were no rats or other plague-bearing rodents, such as ground squirrels, there would probably be no plague.

Yellow fever at one time created panic in our southern states and paralyzed industry and commerce. The first frost put an end to the fever. So great was the panic that many little communities established a shotgun quarantine against the rest of the world.

We now know that one special kind of mosquito spreads yellow fever, and that we cannot become infected with yellow fever except through the bite of a mosquito. No mosquitoes, no yellow fever.

We frequently see scarehead notices of the dangers of typhus fever.

In the slums of our large cities we occasionally have a case of typhus today. It sometimes happens that a case of typhus fever is picked up at quarantine, or among the immigrants at Ellis Island.

Such an occasional case should cause no particular concern—certainly it should not cause a panic. Typhus fever is carried from one person to another by the body louse. People who are clean, and do not harbor these parasites, have nothing to fear from typhus fever.

Asiatic cholera is contracted exactly as typhoid fever, swallowing water, milk, or food contaminated with the waste of some person suffering with the disease.

If your local health department, with your support, compels the city to furnish pure water and pasteurized milk, you need only fear the carrier who may infect your food.

The carrier of typhoid or Asiatic cholera may be an apparently healthy individual without symptoms of these diseases. This is particularly true of typhoid.

The transfer of germs is made by soiled fingers of the carrier reaching our food, particularly milk, occasionally raw food, such as lettuce, which, by the way, is an excellent food rich in a certain kind of vitamin.

No carriers should handle food, and no person should handle food, unless the hands have been thoroughly cleansed.

There is another measure of protection against typhoid, namely vaccination. Today we can be vaccinated against typhoid fever and this is a wise precaution, especially when traveling.

One of the most deep-seated fears of all is the fear of leprosy.

The fear of this disease dates back to Biblical days, when the leper was shunned by all his fellowmen, and stoned whenever found. Today we know that leprosy is less contagious than tuberculosis, but the ancient dread of leprosy still lingers and certainly lepers should be segregated.

Just a Little Hint

Why California

Long Beach Press-Telegram

Investors who flock to Florida on the promise of exemption from taxes are being disillusioned, according to reports which come through the medium of the printed page, as well as by personal delivery from those who have passed through the experience. The disillusionment is expected to be still more emphatic when, after the climax has been passed, the losses continue, not only in taxes on inflated values, but in those reversed margins due to shrinkage. That those portions of Florida which have been the scene of the wildest speculation must expect the inevitable reaction, just as it came to the grain lands of the country after war time prices for wheat began to fall, and as it came to California with the collapse of the ill-fated boom of 1887, is a logical prediction which is beginning to be accepted, even by many of the people of Florida.

Following California's somewhat bitter experience in the late '30's, the solid business men of this state reached the conclusion that realty values must have a firm basis. It was then that these southern counties began reaching out for industrial and commercial development. The response at first was somewhat slow, but eventually there came to be a general realization that good climate has a direct bearing upon the productivity of a factory as well as of a farm, that it contributes to the lowering of operating costs, and to the contentment of workers. Other considerations there were, of course, such as cheap fuel due to the presence of oil, water of the best quality, an abundance of electric power, and many other items that might be enumerated.

Resort attractions were not neglected in this campaign for pay-offs; but on the other hand the past forty years have noted a remarkable improvement in California's facilities for the housing and entertainment of tourists. California never will cease to capitalize its natural appeal to visitors and to home-seekers, an appeal which is based upon delightful weather the year around, a total absence of noxious insects, the privilege of enjoying every line of outdoor sports during any day which one may choose, and the presence of a complete gamut of scenic attractions, all brought within easy reach over paved roads many thousands of miles in aggregate length.

Agricultural products so varied that they are numberless, and with almost limitless range for expansion of yield under scientific farming and logical reclamation projects; mining activities like-silver, timber, fisheries, and an expanding commerce are other foundation stones upon which rests the prosperity of California.

These are some of the reasons why California need have no fear of competition from any source, even though for the time being such competition may seem to be more or less intense, and temporarily productive of adverse results to a certain degree.

California's further development is assured, on a scale larger than ever before anticipated, because of California's unparalleled resources and attractions, and because of the constant movement of population towards the Pacific Southwest.

Worth While Verse

YOUR SHIPS WILL ALL COME HOME

Your ships will all come home to you
Across the purple and the blue
Of rolling seas, past sunsets gold,
With heaps of treasure in the hold.
The day you least expect them to
Your ships will all come home to you.

Your ships will all come home to you;
But fretting will not help them to.
You cannot add more wings to wings,
Nor speed inevitable things.
In their good time, whatever you do,
Your ships will all come home to you.

Your ships will all come home to you.
Then go your way with courage true.
Unwatched horizons sooner bring Their white and lovely offering.
The hour you least expect them to
Your ships will all come home to you!

Tom Sims Says

Uneasy lies the head that's above a sunburned back.
Being mad at yourself isn't half as bad as being mad at the world.

Be careful about following in your father's footsteps. You are liable to have a son like him.
No matter how long you stay in jail you don't get a vacation.
Looking down on others don't place you above them.
Cities are all right, except you can't yell very loud in them.

Little Benny's
Note Book

by Leo Page

We had stake for dinner tonight, and ma called pop 3 times to come down and then she started to cut the stake with the carving knife, saying, O dear, I'm afraid that butcher went and sent me around a tuft stake after all I sed to him, you mite as well tawk to a post as tawk to a butcher, O dear, at times like this I wish I was a vegetarian.

Which then pop started to come down stairs, ma whispering, Now for goodness sakes dont enybody let on the stake is tuft and maybe he wont notice it, he's simply terrible wen enything is tuft.

And pop came in and sat down, saying, Ah, a nice thick juicy stake, I'm glad I dropped in.

Heers a nice medium done peece jest the way you like it, ma sed.

What could be fairer than that? pop sed. And he passed his plate for it and started to cut a peece off the end of it with his knife and fork, saying, For the love of mud.

These table nives need sharpening, I shouldnt be seprized, ma sed.

They'll be lucky if they dont need new blades and handles after they get through arguing with this so called stake, pop sed.

Now Willum how can you say sutch a thing, you havent even taisted it yet, ma sed, and pop sed, Yes, thats so, all I've done so far is strain my rist.

Well let me take that peece back and give you another peece, ma sed, and pop sed, Never mind, that animal didnt have a tender spot or a kind feeling in its body.

Well you see me eating mine, dont you and you see Gladdis and Benny eating theirs, dont you? ma sed. Wich we was, as good as we could, and pop sed, I see them making anguished faces and wishing they had never bin born. O well, the mash potatoes are very tender, he sed.

And he left almost all his stake on his plate and so did me and Gladdis. Proving theres certain things you cant do by tawking, including making a tuft stake seem tender.

English in the Schools

Fresno Republican

An administrator in the Fresno State college laments that 72 out of a hundred applicants for admission could not make a satisfactory showing in "English A," the composition course that is a prerequisite for self expression in the college and the high schools from which these applicants graduated are blamed for the poor showing made.

Perhaps the high schools are to blame. At least, the high schools, being the last institution from which these pupils came, must bear the brunt of the criticism. And the lack is no small matter. Ability to write down what one thinks, in understandable form, is second only in importance to being able to say what one means. Thoughts are of no value, unless they can be communicated. We in this western world do not believe that years spent in solitary meditation, like the Hindu recluse, can be of any spiritual or practical value. If you cannot say "it" with words, written or oral, "it" is not much good.

Blaming this state of affairs on the high schools is all right, as far as it will help the high schools to improve their system of training. But doubtless the evil, as far as it is an evil, goes clear to the roots of education, the current carelessness in home speech, and the equal carelessness in speech that pervades through all the years of schooling. Let's attack the problem everywhere, in high school and out.

But there is much flubdub about this matter of word usage. The really important object is to use words so that we can be readily and accurately understood. The least important part is the question of following rules. People worry themselves about questions of spelling, and grammar, and style, thinking that they are fundamentals when they really are of no more importance than the question of whether hair should be parted in the middle or on the side.

Just as other questions of taste and manners have their weight, so should taste and precision in the use of words. But their seriousness can easily be exaggerated.

One whose craft involves the use of words, in speech and writing, should be judged by a much more severe standard than one to whom spelling is nothing but a mark of social conformity. It is to be hoped that careful speech will continue to be a mark of good breeding among us, just as much as is personal cleanliness and social courtesy. But just as we realize that there is something deeper in good manners than superficial courtesy, so we should realize that the purposes of speech are not formal, but in human service.

Miss Phillips, in noting the character of the "compositions" handed in by college applicants, notes that they are much more "live" than usual. That is pleasant. If the minds of our school students are more observant, more alert, more appreciative of the life that is around them and of which they are a part, we should be able to forgive them for leaving an occasional "m" out of "accommodate," or a split infinitive or an agreeable antecedent.

Safe Travel

A report has been issued by the Junker airplane factories of Germany showing a remarkable record of three years of air traffic in Europe. The report includes only Junker machines, which are all metal. It shows that 2200 passengers were carried in 1921, and these increased to over 26,000 in 1923. The 1924 figures, not yet complete at the time of the report, will show a still greater rate of increase. This entire traffic was without a single accident.

Europe has a network of airways. Even in Russia the air service has become of great importance. On account of great distances in Russia, it is claimed by some air traffic experts that it was only by use of airplanes that the country was controlled from one center during the disturbing times of the revolution.

Dirigibles of the Zeppelin type also have established remarkable records in Europe. They have carried many thousands of passengers without one accident. England is leading in promoting this type of air travel and is building two great ships for service in India.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Burton

NO. 9—THE BURGLAR IS FOUND

It was funny that Daddy Cracknuts forgot to tell his wife about somebody stealing the gasoline out of his car.

But by the time he got to the Post Office and looked over his mail, and stopped at the Twins' garage to talk to his friends, it was lunch time.

And at lunch he and Mrs. Cracknuts were so busy talking about the children's new school shoes, and about the postal card from Mrs. Gray Tail saying that she was coming to visit them, that it never occurred to him that he had forgotten to tell his wife that he'd been robbed, and that all his friends were coming that night to help him watch for the burglar.

The Cracknuts family lived in an apartment in the maple-tree, some three flights up. But of course their garage was on the ground floor.

That afternoon Daddy said he thought he'd go out hunting for the burglar. He wanted to be ready to see in a store the minute the first frost came.

Mrs. Cracknuts said she was glad to get the whole family out of the way as she had so much cleaning to do.

"The children spot up things so," she complained. "I never can bear to have Mother Gray Tail come and see the mess things get into. She always says I don't raise them right."

So Daddy spent this afternoon looking up chestnut and hickory-nut trees, and hazel bushes, and Mrs. Cracknuts spent it cleaning.

Mrs. Cracknuts was so tired that night that she went to bed the first minute she had the children settled.

And Daddy said he'd just smoke one pipe and then he would come up, too. He was almost as tired as she was.

By that time Daddy had forgotten all about the stolen gasoline him-
